The Undergraduate's Companion to African Writers and Their Web Sites Miriam E. Conteh-Morgan, 2005-10-30 Now a firmly established part of world literature course offerings in many general education curricula African literature is no longer housed exclusively with African Studies programs and is often studied in English French Portuguese Women's Studies and Comparative Studies departments This book helps fill the great need for research materials on this topic presenting the best resources available for 300 African writers These writers have been carefully selected to include both well known writers and those less commonly studied yet highly influential They are drawn from both the Sub Sahara and the Maghreb the major geographical regions of Africa The study of Africa was introduced into the curriculum of institutions of higher learning in the United States in the 1960s when the Black Consciousness movement in the United States and the Cold War and decolonization movements in Africa created a need for the systematic study of other regions of the world Between 1986 and 1991 three Africans won Nobel literature prizes Soyinka Mahfouz and Gordimer and the visibility of African writers increased They are now a firmly established part of world literature courses in many general education curricula throughout North America African Writers is meant to serve as a resource for introductory material on 300 writers from 39 countries These writers were selected on the basis on two criteria that there is material on them in an easily available reference work and that there is some information of research value on free Web sites Each writer is from the late 19th or 20th century with the notable exception of Olaudah Equiano an 18th century African whose slave narrative is generally considered the first work of African literature All entries are annotated The Conflict of Voices in the Poetry of Dennis Brutus and Maḥmūd Darwīsh Randa Abou-bakr,2004 A comparative analysis of the work of the South African poet Dennis Brutus 1924 2009 and the Palestinian poet Mahmud Darwish 1942 2008 this study aims to demonstrate how a conflict of voices in their poetry emerged and developed across four stages covering a period from the mid 1960s to the mid 1990s Based on a critique of theories proclaiming the death of the author a productive approach to voice is elaborated while taking a modifying perspective on aspects such as lyricism polyphony and impersonality The Athletes' Voice in History Stephan Wassong,Angela J. Schneider,Rob Hess,2022-12-26 This collection of essays is the third iteration in a series of publications dealing with Olympic studies that initially developed out of the tripartite relationship between Western University Canada Victoria University Melbourne Australia and the German Sport University Cologne Germany However for this collection papers were solicited from around the world in order to approach the topic from different and much wider perspectives To this end this book combines a diverse range of scholarly analyses that seek to understand how the recognition of the voices of athletes have developed over many decades In essence the sequence of chapters in this book are based around three perspectives namely the lives and biographical profiles of athletes the decision making processes of and for athletes and the formal and informal institutional representation of athletes While the touchstone is primarily the voices of athletes associated with Olympic related sports consideration is also given to the actions and opinions of athletes expressed in other sporting spheres This book was originally published as a special issue of The International Journal of the History of Sport The Facts on File Companion to World Poetry R.
