Critical Passions Selected Essays Post Contemporary Interventions:

Critical Passions Jean Franco, 1999 The author one of the most influential Latin Americanists in the US has published a number of books but none display the importance of her work in literary criticism cultural studies and marxist and feminist theory as successfully as this collection o

Angeles Mastretta Jane Elizabeth Lavery, 2005 The first major study on the works of the Mexican novelist Angeles Mastretta demonstrating the rich complexity and range of the author s fiction and essays The Mexican novelist Angeles Mastretta b 1949 has only recently received serious critical attention largely because her work has been seen as popular and therefore inappropriate for academic study This first major work to be published on Mastretta seeks to demonstrate the rich complexity and range of the author s fiction and essays In the tradition of Post Boom Latin American women s writing Mastretta s texts are motivated by a desire to speak primarily of the silenced experiences and voices of women Two of her novels referential and testimonial in style can be placed within the Mexican Revolutionary Novel tradition and explore the Revolutionary period and its consequences in the light of female experiences and perspectives The hitherto unexplored themes of female sexuality and bodily erotics in Mastretta s texts are also considered in this volume Her feminist works avoid facile simplifications heterogeneous and dialogical they interweave the historical and the fictional the everyday and the fantastic The originality of Mastretta s writing lies in its elusive postmodern ambiguities shimmering surfaces are often interrupted by unexpected depths and proliferating meanings cannot be fully circumscribed by critical analysis Jane Elizabeth Lavery lectures in Latin American Studies at the University of Kent

Desired States Lessie Jo Frazier, 2020-06-12 Desired States challenges the notion that in some cultures sex and sexuality have become privatized and located in individual subjectivity rather than in public political practices and institutions Instead the book contends that desire is a central aspect of political culture Based on fieldwork and archival research Frazier explores the gendered and sexualized dynamics of political culture in Chile an imperialist context asking how people connect with and become mobilized in political projects in some cases or in others become disaffected or are excluded to varying degrees The book situates the state in a rich and changing context of transnational and localized movements imperialist interests geo political conflicts and market forces to explore the broader struggles of desiring subjects especially in those dimensions of life that are explicitly sexual and amorous free love movements marriage the sixties sexual revolution in Cold War contexts prostitution policies ideas about men s gratification the charisma of leaders and sexual domestic violence against women

The University Paul A. Bové, 2000 The essays collected in this issue of boundary 2 were written in response to a call for papers that would treat the contemporary university in various regions and stages of formation around the world in light of the interaction between local and global realities Underlying this project is the assumption that profound changes in economy and world organization transform the function and value of universities in tension not only with the regional histories and forces in which particular universities function but also with what used to be called the idea of the university The authors of these essays approach this topic in two ways some present the history and current situation of the university in a given place and politics and some write of the new university s political economy as the state withdraws support for higher education and hands the institutions over to entrepreneurial and transnational corporate culture None of these essays defends the idea that the university pursues knowledge for its own sake Yet there is a tinge of nostalgia for this idea or at least for the idea that the university s task is to educate to destroy bias to cultivate Of course such an idea remains the public justification for the existence of the university especially in the advanced capitalist societies whose higher classes benefit the most from the globalization of economic production Luso-Braz. Allan,Cristina Santos,Adriana Spahr,2016-11-15 Virginity is of concern here that is its utter messiness At once valuable and detrimental normative and deviant undesirable and enviable Virginity and its loss hold tremendous cultural significance For many female virginity is still a universally accepted condition something that is somehow bound to the hymen whereas male virginity is almost as elusive as the G spot we know it s there it s just we have a harder time finding it Of course boys are virgins queers are virgins some people reclaim their virginities and others reject virginity from the get go So what if we agree to forget the hymen all together Might we start to see the instability of terms like untouched pure or innocent Might we question the act of sex the very notion of relational sexuality After all for many people it is the sexual acts they don t do or don t want to do that carry the most abundant emotional clout Virgin Envy is a collection of essays that look past the vestal virgins and beyond Joan of Arc From medieval to present day literature the output of HBO Bollywood and the films of Abdellah Ta a or Derek Jarman to the virginity testing of politically active women in Tahrir Square the writers here explore the concept of virginity in today s world to show that ultimately virginity is a site around which our most basic beliefs about sexuality are confronted and from which we can come to understand some of our most basic anxieties paranoias fears and desires
