Cross Cultural Differences In Perspectives On The Self:

Cross-cultural Differences in Perspectives on the Self Virginia Murphy-Berman, John J. Berman, 2003-01-01 Cross Cultural Difference in Perspectives on the Self features the latest research in a dynamic area of inquiry and practice Considered in these pages are cross cultural differences in the idea of the person and in models of balancing obligations to the self family and community Revisiting and questioning the concepts of self and self worth the authors investigate the extent to which factors traditionally associated with psychological effectiveness intrinsic motivation assuming personal responsibility for one's actions and feeling in control unique hopeful and optimistic are culturally bound Hazel Markus and Shinobu Kitayama consider cultural differences in models of psychological agency Joan Miller critiques the meaning of the term agency analyzing the extent to which many popular theories in psychology rest on rather narrow Western models of behavior and effective functioning Steven Heine calls into question the presumed universality of some forms of cognitive processing Sheena Iyengar and Sanford DeVoe apply a cross cultural perspective to better understand intrinsic and extrinsic motivation and the value of choice Kuo shu Yang questions the universality of the pervasive and popular theory of self actualization formulated by Abraham Maslow and finally Ype Poortinga reexamines not only the cultural boundaries of theory but also the very meaning of the concept of culture itself

Contemporary Perspectives on the Psychology of Attitudes Geoffrey Haddock, Gregory R. Maio, 2004-09-01 What is an attitude How do different research approaches characterise attitude and its applications in social psychology The Attitude concept has long formed an indispensable construct in social psychology In this volume internationally renowned contributors review contemporary developments in research and theory to capture the current metamorphosis of this central concept This book draws together the latest developments in the field to provide a scholarly and accessible overview of the study of attitudes examining the implications for its position as a paradigm of social psychological understanding Dividing the subject into two main parts this book first addresses the structural and behavioural properties of attitudes including the affective cognitive structure of attitudes the nature of attitude ambivalence and intention behaviour relations The second section focuses on representational and transformational processes such as meta cognitive attitudinal processes the role of implicit and explicit attitudinal processes cultural influences and attitude change In a third concluding section the editors draw together these contemporary perspectives and elaborate on their impact for future theorising and research into attitudes Empirically supported throughout this collection represents a timely integration of the burgeoning range of approaches to attitude research It will be of interest to social psychologists sociologists political scientists and researchers with an interest in attitudinal phenomena

Social and Emotional Aspects of Learning Sanna Jarvela, 2011-01-07 Social and emotional aspects of schooling and the learning environment can dramatically affect one's attention understanding and memory for learning This topic has been of increasing interest in both psychology and education leading to an entire section being devoted to it in the third edition of the International Encyclopedia of Education Thirty three
