

The background is a complex, abstract composition of warm tones (browns, oranges, yellows) with various mathematical and scientific symbols and patterns. These include a large stylized 'F' on the left, a chemical formula 'H2O' in the lower left, a diagram of a beaker with a flame on the lower left, a partial differential equation $\frac{\partial^2 f(x,y)}{\partial y \partial x}$ on the right, a binary sequence '001110' on the right, and large numbers '1' and '2' at the bottom. There are also circular patterns and swirling lines throughout.

A Dictionary of Quotations in Mathematics Robert A. Nowlan, 2002-07-02 Simeon Denis Poisson a French mathematician once remarked Life is good for only two things discovering mathematics and teaching mathematics A bit of an overstatement to some those students and teachers who have dedicated their careers and lives to mathematics find much truth in Poisson s declaration This work contains almost 3 000 quotations in mathematics It is divided into thirty eight chapters and 389 sections that present quotations over a spectrum from God and religion to the nature of infinity A few more of the many areas covered historical origins linguistics the arts mathematicians themselves logic real and idealized space number theory algebra computers probability theory and statistics Immensely useful for speeches papers presentations and endlessly entertaining for browsing Fully indexed by author and keyword Statistically Speaking C.C.

Gaither,2018-11-26 Statistically Speaking is a book of quotations It brings together the best expressed thoughts that are especially illuminating and pertinent to the disciplines of probability and statistics The book is an aid for the individual who loves to quote and to quote correctly List of Books Forming the Reference Library in the Reading Room of the British Museum British Museum. Department of Printed Books,1910 Masters of Mathematics Robert A. Nowlan,2017-05-13 The original title for this work was Mathematical Literacy What Is It and Why You Need it The current title reflects that there can be no real learning in any subject unless questions of who what when where why and how are raised in the minds of the learners The book is not a mathematical text and there are no assigned exercises or exams It is written for reasonably intelligent and curious individuals both those who value mathematics aware of its many important applications and others who have been inappropriately exposed to mathematics leading to indifference to the subject fear and even loathing These feelings are all consequences of meaningless presentations drill rote learning and being lost as the purpose of what is being studied Mathematics education needs a radical reform There is more than one way to accomplish this Here the author presents his approach of wrapping mathematical ideas in a story To learn one first must develop an interest in a problem and the curiosity to find how masters of mathematics have solved them What is necessary to be mathematically literate It s not about solving algebraic equations or even making a geometric proof These are valuable skills but not evidence of literacy We often seek answers but learning to ask pertinent questions is the road to mathematical literacy Here is the good news new mathematical ideas have a way of finding applications This is known as the unreasonable effectiveness of mathematics
