Virtuous Intentions

Mark Ledbetter, 1989 Narrative does not simply tell a story it discovers and creates story as well Mark Ledbetter argues that an important dimension of narrative is its ability to reveal the virtuous life He examines three narrative texts James Agee's A Death in the Family Walker Percy's Love in the Ruins and Robert Penn Warren's A Place to Come To His goal is to demonstrate how a study of narrative structure especially the element of character explores and reveals the life of virtue He concludes with a discussion of how moral criticism has a place in post modern literary reflection and how the two can work together to produce a critically sound literary interpretation

Rejuvenating the Humanities Ray Broadus Browne, Marshall William Fishwick, 1992 The humanities are the human elements in any culture In the West these humanities have ordinarily been anchored in and derivative of Eurocentric culture and have been centered on elite and art related subjects As such they have strengthened and perpetuated elite culture and have been restricted and narrow in their point of view They have enervated the modern humanities which in a democratic society insist on having democratic humanities Democratic humanities demand a new point of view which demands respect for and dignity to the common aspects of culture as well as inclusion of those elements It is time the call went ringing through the land The Old is Sick Please Bring Assistance Rejuvenate the humanities The essays in this volume are Assistance an effort to demonstrate the inalienable need for new subjects in the humanities canon and the value of those subjects as parts of the New Humanities The twenty essays in this effort to bring new vitality to the humanities range through fields familiar in life but unfamiliar in the humanities canon They include leisure folk cultures material culture pornography comics animal rights Black studies travelling and of course the bugbear of academics television The authors include some of the outstanding scholar observers of today all of whom address their subjects in cool dispassionate and convincing reason The subject of revitalizing the Humanities is important indeed This volume will go a long way toward alerting the intellectual community to the desperate need to bring new understanding to the study of the modern humanities      Narratives of Lester, 2024-11-08 Addressing both veterans of justice work and novices seeking points of entry the essays in this volume showcase practical approaches to diversity equity and inclusion ways to build community earn trust tell unheard stories and develop solutions to problems Emphasizing values such as empathy self reflection and integrity the volume is rooted in humanities work but also features contributions from fields as diverse as the performing arts architecture and evolutionary biology and represents settings beyond the college campus such as schools libraries museums and prisons While bringing insights from higher education it critiques the system as well exploring the ways that institutions reinforce power structures and exclude marginalized voices Interspersed with the essays brief reflections by activists and artists offer testimony and inspiration      The Fate of Law Austin Sarat, Thomas R. Kearns, 1991-08-09 For law and legal theory the end of the twentieth century is a time of contradiction while the newly emerging politics of Eastern Europe seek to establish a new rule of law voices in this country proclaim the death of law For the former law provides hope for stability and fairness For the latter the fundamental values that provide a grounding for legality seem no longer secure or satisfying The Fate of Law is a collection of five original essays each of which discusses the problems and prospects of law in the late twentieth century. The essays pay particular attention to the impact of broad intellectual and political movements especially feminism and postmodernism on law and legal theory. The Fate of Law investigates what happens under the critical scrutiny of those movements and in an era of growing skepticism about law's central claim to objectivity, neutrality, and reason. It describes the struggles that ensue and the responses that are made. Each of the essays that comprise this book is written in its own style and voice; each makes its own judgments and assessments.

The Future of Companies in the Face of a New Reality Griselda Dávila-Aragón, Salvador Rivas-Aceves, 2021-07-06. This book analyzes the changes brought on to economic and business activities in Latin America due to the new scenarios, environments, and social dynamics the world is facing as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic at both micro and macroeconomic levels. Recent changes to working environments has brought discussions on work-life balance to the forefront and creating support mechanisms to attract and retain the next generation of workers has become a primary focus for talent managers. At an industry level, there are expectations that once the crisis passes, there will be massive capital inflows toward ESG investments in emerging markets driving the transformation of companies. Consequently, ESG business models will have a cascading effect in the whole supply chain, upstream, midstream, and downstream, and will generate greater value for all stakeholders. At the same time, technologies of the fourth industrial revolution such as Blockchain and Artificial Intelligence have gradually been adopted by companies leading the charge in ESG business models. The financial sector has taken the lead in these two technologies, but the challenge generated by the COVID-19 pandemic forced other sectors to innovate rapidly in order to remain afloat. Using empirical and theoretical frameworks, the contributors in this book identify the most attractive alternatives to benefit consumers in an adverse environment like the one the world is facing as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, which while posing a significant challenge for most industries, has also created new opportunities for innovation and ingenuity, analyzing case studies from the coffee and medical tourism sectors in particular.

The Critical Response to Kamau Brathwaite Emily A. Williams, 2004-11-30. While Kamau Brathwaite is renowned for his achievements as a world literary, historical, and cultural critic, his Anglophone Caribbean poetry is the cornerstone of his legacy. His critically acclaimed trilogy The Arrivants, which is composed of the individual volumes Rights of Passage, Masks, and Islands, is analyzed along with many other poetic works. Also discussed within are his innovative and highly original literary techniques which have evolved during over forty years as a poet. This book is a collection of selected critical responses to volumes of Brathwaite's poetry written from the 1960s to 2000s. Organized by decades, it includes book reviews, articles, essays, and personal reflections. Also included is a recent interview with Brathwaite conducted by Williams in 2002. In this interview, Brathwaite has the opportunity to address his critics as he responds to his work holistically as well as specific volumes of his poetry and stylistic innovations. Anyone interested in Brathwaite's poetry will truly enjoy this work.
