Theologians of Our Time: Karl Barth [and Others] Leonhard Reinisch, 1964 Policy Evaluation in the Era of COVID-19 Pearl Eliadis, Indran A. Naidoo, Ray C. Rist, 2023-04-07 Did evaluation meet the challenges of the COVID 19 crisis How were evaluation practices architectures and values affected Policy Evaluation in the Era of COVID 19 is the first to offer a broad canvas that explores government responses and ideas to tackle the challenges that evaluation practice faces in preparing for the next global crisis Practitioners and established academic experts in the field of policy evaluation present a sophisticated synthesis of institutional national and disciplinary perspectives with insights drawn from developments in Australia Canada and the UK as well as the UN Contributors examine the impacts of evaluation on socioeconomic recovery planning government innovations in pivoting internal operations to address the crisis and the role of parliamentary and audit institutions during the pandemic Chapters also example the Sustainable Development Goals and the inadequacy of human rights based approaches in evaluation while examining the imperative proposed by some authors that it is time that we take seriously the call for substantial transformation Written in a clear and accessible style Policy Evaluation in the Era of COVID 19 offers a much needed insight on the role evaluation played during this unique and critical juncture in history The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/oa/edit/10.4324/9781003376316> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1992 The Next Three Futures W. Warren Wagar, 1991-08-26 Wagar pulls together all aspects of futures studies in this unique volume comprising a vital introduction to and defense of the impressive array of futurist inquiry The book examines how futurists think and work It compares and analyzes their ideas on a wide range of topics including the environment politics economics war and peace and sociocultural issues Wagar also shows how the three ideological paradigms within the futures field the technoliberal the radical and the countercultural play a role in the study of the future The organizing theme of this unique work by W Warren Wagar is the way in which images of alternative futures are shaped by ideological differences in the present Wagar identifies three principal camps of futurist thought technoliberals radicals and counterculturalists By far the largest group are the technoliberals supporters of parliamentary democracy civil liberties free enterprise and technological progress Radicals occupy the Marxist and democratic socialist Left while counterculturalists espouse decentralist eco pacifist and New Age values The Next Three Futures pulls together all aspects of futures studies comprising a vital introduction and outline of the many worlds of futurist inquiry The book consists of two parts the first an examination of how futurists think and work the second a comparative and critical analysis of their ideas on a wide variety of topics After a short prologue the first chapter defines the scope and limitations of futures research and discusses its chief methodologies The next chapter gives a valuable intellectual history of futurism from its earliest origins with special emphasis on the work of H G Wells The idea of the ideological paradigm in futures studies is described in the third chapter The following four chapters making up part two investigate the thinking of contemporary futurists on the environment economic and political developments war and peace and societal cultural issues Wagar's epilogue considers the possibility that the technoliberal radical and countercultural futures may all lie ahead for humankind but at different stages and times in the years to come This highly readable volume will be of great value to students of futurism futurists political scientists sociologists economic forecasters environmentalists and anyone else fascinated by the study of the future

Our Time, 1947 European Integration Since the 1920s Mark Hewitson, 2024-10-14 Brexit populism and Euroscepticism seem to have challenged old assumptions about European integration and raised the prospect of disintegration This book re-examines why the European Union and its forerunners were created and investigates how and why they have changed It links contemporary events to historical explanation arguing that there were long term sets of conditions dating back to the 1920s which pushed European governments to cooperate economically and to try to resolve their diplomatic differences The failure of the French and German governments to create what Aristide Briand had called a European federal union demonstrated both the precariousness of the enterprise and its connection to the domestic politics of European states After 1945 the unexpected advent of a Cold War and the military diplomatic and economic presence of the United States in Europe facilitated the gradual development of habits of cooperation and institutional integration but they also placed limits on European governments activities as did disagreements between political parties and the expectations of citizens As a consequence supranational bodies such as the European Commission have been accompanied and often overshadowed by intergovernmental institutions such as the European Council with the EU as a whole functioning in important respects as a type of confederation The volume addresses a series of large scale historical questions which are integral to an understanding of the European Union It asks how and why citizens of member states have identified with the EU how matters of security affected the development of the European Community during and after the Cold War whether economic and social convergence have taken place and with what consequences and why European institutions have come to function as they have The study is thematic focusing on the most important aspects of European integration and explaining why member states have decided to carry out or have consented to the unique experiment of the European Union Social

Dynamics of Crime and Control Susanne Karstedt, Kai Bussmann, 2000-07-04 This book assembles essays by leading scholars in their fields of criminology and socio legal studies John Braithwaite John Hagan Jack Katz Nicola Lacey Michael Levi Joan McCord Dario Melossi Steven Messner and Richard Rosenfeld explore new directions in contemporary theorising about the impact of social and cultural dynamics on crime and social control These essays have in common that they transcend disciplinary boundaries by combining criminological and socio legal perspectives in so doing they bring fresh perspectives to the analysis of crime in market societies and in the global market place The authors do not share the apocalyptic and dramatic predictions of rising crime rates but are aware of the double movement of social change and the counteracting forces that emerge in its course These essays promote an integrative perspective that bridges the gap between etiological criminology and a constructionist approach as well as between explanatory and normative theory Whitaker's
