Critical Perspectives on Computers and Composition Instruction Gail E. Hawisher,Cynthia L. Selfe,1989-01-01
Re-imagining Computers and Composition Gail E. Hawisher,1992 The SAGE Handbook of E-learning Research Richard Andrews,Caroline Haythornthwaite,2007-07-10 I would like to enthusiastically recommend The SAGE Handbook of E Learning Research An international set of authors have produced a highly readable handbook that covers topics in E learning research theory policy language and literacy and design issues The work draws on multiple perspectives ranging from early work in asynchronous learning networks to community organization in e learning This is a large and much needed work that organizes and illuminates issues in E learning in a way that readers will be able to take away practical advice for their own use I am quite pleased to see this handbook that provides a very useful organization of knowledge for our field John Bourne Ph D Professor and Executive Director The Sloan Consortium www sloan c org This book is an important contribution to the development of E learning because its account of the research always begins with the context of learning from which the exploitation of technology can be viewed The authors help us understand that technology affords new kinds of relationship between the learner and what is learned and how it is learned With this rich understanding the book is able to build the wide ranging research foundation on which the field can move forward Diana Laurillard Institute of Education University of London A comprehensive and compelling resource that provides a global perspective on a development that is transforming higher education David Pilsbury Chief Executive Worldwide Universities Network Unlike many how to books on the topic this work focuses on research for educators and others interested in how technology enhances or diminishes learning Highly Recommended Choice Magazine This handbook provides a state of the art in depth account of research in the rapidly expanding field of E learning The first of its kind it provides reviews of over 20 areas in E learning research by experts in the field and provides a critical account of the best work to date The contributors cover the basics of the discipline as well as new theoretical perspectives Areas of research covered by the Handbook include Contexts for researching e learning Theory and policy Language and literacy Design issues History of the field The editors introduction and many of the chapters show how multiple aspects of E learning interact The introduction also provides a new model for researching the field This book is relevant for everyone in higher education from undergraduate to faculty as well as university administrators involved in providing E learning It will provide a research background for higher education including universities training colleges and community colleges It will also be relevant to those involved in any research and developmental aspect of E learning corporate trainers and those involved in online programs at secondary school or in virtual high schools Whether you are a lecturer researcher or programme designer this is an essential read Richard Andrews is Professor in English at the Institute of Education University of London and Visiting Professor at New York University s Steinhardt School of Education Culture and Human Development Caroline Haythornthwaite is Associate Professor at the Graduate School of Library and Information Science at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign   Approaches to Computer Writing Classrooms Linda Myers,1993-08-31 This text provides a variety of practical and theoretical approaches to computer classroom design Pedagogical ethical and political issues are discussed as well as nuts and bolts construction adapting teaching styles to a CAI environment use of specific hardware and software and speculation regarding future electronic learning environments   The Allyn & Bacon Sourcebook for College Writing Teachers James C. McDonald,1996 Designed for college writing teachers who are faced with teaching composition for the first time or re examining their teaching goals and methods The Allyn Bacon Sourcebook for College Writing Teachers is a collection of writings on important theories and pedagogies in composition studies The selections discuss a range of theories and approaches to teaching writing and present readers with a number of options for instruction rather than a single way to teach Written by some of today s foremost scholars and teachers the articles range from discussing how to integrate critical thinking and reading into writing instruction to methods for responding to and evaluating student writing to dealing with grammar and editing For those who teach writing   Writing Inventions Scott Lloyd DeWitt,2001-07-26 A collection of instructional stories research and classroom applications for teachers who use computers in their writing instruction   On Literacy and Its Teaching Gail E. Hawisher,Anna O. Soter,1990-07-05 This book recognizes and embraces the complexities of modern English teaching It presents English teachers and teacher educators with a critical view of current professional issues and concerns in the belief that these groups need and want to participate in curricular and professional reform movements that affect them and their students The book examines such issues as the interconnectedness of the study of language literature and composition curricular problems in language instruction in teacher education the relationship between our traditional notions of literature study and our emerging view of literacy in the contemporary information age and the ways in which current theory and research can be translated into innovative designs for the teaching of written composition On Literacy and Its Teaching is a powerful response to the current challenge for innovation and change in English teacher education With its broad scope it provides a balanced overview and timely analysis of the field of English Education   Literacy David Wray,2004 This four volume collection reprints key debates about exactly what it means to be literate and how literacy can best be taught Rather than centering on the emotional reaction of mass media debates this set focuses on research findings into processes and pedagogy The themes covered include Literacy its nature and its teaching Reading processes and teaching Writing processes and teaching and New Literacies the impact of technologies   Interactions in the Computer-supported Writing Classroom Nancy S. Tucker,1995   Fifth ACM Conference on Hypertext Proceedings, Seattle, Washington, U.S.A., November 14-18, 1993 ,1993   Integrating Hypertextual Subjects Robert Samuels,2006 This book examines how one can teach composition with computers while reflecting critically on the ways technology affects student literacies faculty labor issues and the educational environment at contemporary universities By articulating concerns regarding pedagogy and postmodern academic institutions the book develops an economic political and cultural account of the field of computers and composition Of special importance is the analysis of how the employment of new technologies in writing classes affects student writing faculty research pedagogical innovations and the employment practices of research universities By articulating a technological and holistic conception of composition studies through the integration of process oriented expressivist social constructivist and current traditional models of writing pedagogies this volume shows teachers how they can both use and critique digital technologies in college writing courses Furthermore in employing a multimedia approach to the study of computers and composition the book suggests ways of helping students to author their own new media in writing courses BOOK JACKET   Journal of Business and Technical Communication ,1992   Computers and Community Carolyn Handa,1990 These exciting and moving reports of a revolutionary composition pedagogy develop a common theme the most profound changes wrought by computers in the composition classroom are social political and pedagogical not technological   Harbrace College Handbook Donahue,Mary Lee Donahue,1994   A Rhetoric of Electronic Communities Tharon W. Howard,1997-04-10 This book is a study of the power to monitor what is said authorize who may speak and even to determine what is and is not knowable within the context of electronic discourse communities It tests the claim that the Internet and other wide area networking systems promote participatory democracies and may serve as agencies for communal change by enabling the formation of resisting subjectivities   CALICO Journal ,1999   Proceedings, NECC '93 Thomas A. Brubaker,1993   Computer-based Instruction Stephen M. Alessi,Stanley R. Trollip,1991 Analyzes different techniques of computer based instruction and explains how to use computers effectively in any educational setting   Learner Factors/teacher Factors Jerry Zutell,1991 Contains Program for 1990 National Reading Conference Miami Florida November 27 December 1 1990   Facilitating Students' Collaborative Writing: Issues and Recommendations Bruce W. Speck,2002-05-07 Collaboration is interwoven in the writing process in both obvious and subtle ways from a writer using the language that he or she inherited to referring to the works of other writers both explicitly and implicitly to writing together with a colleague In this book the author explains that collaborative writing can be a useful pedagogical tool professors can use to help students actively learn about the subject matter and about themselves
