Critical Studies In Rural Gender Issues:

Critical Studies in Rural Gender Issues Jo Little, Carol Morris, 2005 In this edited collection of essays examining gender in rural geography Little and Morris both with the Centre for Rural Research U of Exeter UK present four themes the roles of men productive gendered identity in the context of sustainable agriculture environmental management Masculinities and Management in Agricultural Organizations Worldwide Barbara Pini, 2008 Using contemporary gender theory to examine gender and rurality beyond that of simply women femininities this illuminating book accurately locates the subject of masculinities within the rural agricultural context It will speak to academics in social sciences gender studies as well as management and organization studies Gender and Rurality Lia Bryant, Barbara Pini, 2010-09-13 The study of gender in rural spaces is still in its infancy Thus far there has been little exploration of the constitution of the varied and differing ways that gender is constituted in rural settings This book will place the question of gender rurality and difference at its center The authors examine theoretical constructions of gender and explore the relationship between these and rural spaces While there have been extensive debates in the feminist literature about gender and the intersection of multiple social categories rural feminist social scientists have yet to theorize what gender means in a rural context and how gender blurs and intersects with other social categories such as sexuality ethnicity class and disability This book will use empirical examples from a range of research projects undertaken by the authors as well as illustrations from work in the Australasia region Europe and the United States to explore gender and rurality and their relation to sexuality ethnicity class and disability Feminisms and Ruralities Barbara Pini, Berit Brandth, Jo Little, 2014-12-18 Feminist concern with difference has rarely extended to rurality even if it is now widely recognized that experiences of inequality depend on intersections of several identities in each individual life This lack of concern may reflect the urban background of the majority of feminist academics or at least their urban positionality once in the academy It may equivalently be that feminists have been influenced by stereotypes of rural women as traditional and reactionary and thus seen them as unlikely exponents of gender equality and an unfruitful focus for scholarly energies Perhaps the problem is a broader one that is reflective of the much documented but still apparent unwillingness of many feminists to recognize and address difference in any of its manifestations Regardless even with the recent interest in intersectionality which has necessarily renewed and reenergized debates in feminism about diversity and inclusion the question of how women are differently positioned because of their non metropolitan location has remained largely overlooked Fear: Critical Geopolitics and Everyday Life Susan J. Smith, 2016-04-22 Fear in the twenty first century has greater currency in western societies than ever before Through scares ranging from cot death juvenile crime internet porn asylum seekers dirty bombs and avian flu we are bombarded with messages about emerging risks This book takes stock of a range of issues of fear and presents new theoretical arguments and research findings that cover topics as diverse as the war on terror the immigration crisis stranger danger global disease epidemics and sectarian violence This book charts the association of fear discourses with particular spaces times social identities and sets of geopolitical relations It examines the ways in which fear may be manufactured and manipulated for political purposes sometimes becoming a tool of repression and relates fear to political economic and social marginalization at different scales Furthermore it highlights the importance and sometimes unpredictability of everyday lived experiences of fear the many ways in which people recognize make sense of and manage fear the extent of resistance to fear the relation of fear and hope in everyday life and the role of emotions in galvanizing political and social action and change

Land, God, and Guns Levi Gahman,2020-05-15 This book is an antidote to the forms of American nationalism masculinity exceptionalism and self anointed prowess that are currently being flexed on the global stage Through a fascinating combination of ethnographic research across seven US states and the application of postcolonial anti racist feminist and poststructuralist theories Land God and Guns reveals how time honoured rites of passage associated with taken for granted notions of manhood in the American Heartland are constitutive of a constellation of colonial worldviews capitalist logics gender essentialisms ethnocentric religious beliefs jingoistic populism racial animus and embodied violence A constellation that within the US upholds a heteropatriarchal and racist ordering of life that both privileges and ultimately damages its main proliferators white settler men This is a detailed work that at once unravels rural white settler masculinity and the US state at their roots whilst demonstrating why any analysis of the cultural production and social practice of masculinity in the United States must take into account the country s historical trajectories of imperialism land dispossession nation state building enslavement extractive accumulation and valorisation of masculinist assertions of dominance
