Intercultural Communication Competence Richard L. Wiseman, Jolene Koester, 1993-02 Published in cooperation with the Speech Communication Association Division on International and Intercultural Communication The editors should be commended as the volume presents the latest thinking and research from scholars within the intercultural field and more broadly from the speech communication discipline For those interested in learning more about various communication based theories and approaches to the study of intercultural competence I highly recommend they take a close look at this book I found the introductory chapter by Koester Wiseman and Sanders extremely valuable in integrating the various perspectives represented by the authors Their discussion of the starting points for the study of the intercultural communication competence was very well written Part I focused on conceptual issues and it includes an excellent review article by Judith Martin about the various approaches taken in the study of intercultural communication competence William Gudykunst's anxiety uncertainty management chapter is perhaps the clearest and most practical extension to date of his extensive theoretical research program on uncertainty and anxiety reduction processes It is tightly written with examples and elaborated explanations of key constructs that relate to intercultural effectiveness I found this chapter Myron Lustig and Brian Spitzberg's methodological concerns relevant to the study of intercultural communication competence to be one of the most targeted analyses of research methods for examining communication competence within the distinctly different intercultural arena This chapter provides a blueprint for research design decision making on studying the difficult phenomenon of intercultural communication competence Donal Carbaugh's ethnographic approach for identifying the verbal means and meanings in social interaction is exciting creative insightful and practical I highly recommend Intercultural Communication Competence for a graduate level theory course in intercultural communication and more generally for any course that focuses on cross cultural interaction Further this book would be a welcome addition for a graduate level intercultural research course Overall Wiseman and Koester have edited a high quality intercultural book that focuses on a complex communication phenomenon I urge anyone interested in this important topic to read Intercultural Communication Competence Mitchell R Hammer The American University International Journal of Intercultural Relations Contemporary societies have witnessed the greatest migration of human populations in recorded history Accordingly interactions among citizens of these societies are becoming increasingly intercultural By gathering the most current research theories and methods from the leading scholars in the field Intercultural Communication Competence is the state of the art study on intercultural communication competence and effectiveness Part I analyzes the conceptual decisions made in intercultural communication competence research by examining decisions regarding conceptualization operationalization research design and sampling In Part Two the contributors present four different theoretical orientations while illustrating how each person's theoretical bias directs the focus of research The essays in the final section examine both qualitative and quantitative approaches to intercultural communication competence research With exemplary conceptual and empirical studies scholars researchers teachers and students alike will find a wealth of information in this tightly edited book

Communication in Interpersonal Relationships Donald P. Cushman, Dudley D. Cahn, 1985-06-30 This book discusses communication principles processes and skills from four different perspectives by explaining four related propositions First human communication is guided by socially established rules the knowledge of which allows interacting persons to exert influence over the outcome of their interactions Second self concepts are formed and sustained in our interactions with others Third the formation of sustained interpersonal relations depends upon the attraction resulting from reciprocal self concept support And fourth organizations and the cultural system provide the parameters within which self concepts and interpersonal relations are formed The implications of these propositions are examined in chapters two through ten The authors develop their system in terms of results What patterns of communication what patterns of signal exchange increase the probability of the development of affective relationship What patterns erode interpersonal systems or prevent them from forming The book also examines patterns of communication within task oriented organizations and in situations involving cultural differences
