The Challenge of Fundamentalism Bassam Tibi, 2023-04-28 Long before the tragic events of September 11 2001 Islamic fundamentalism was exerting a significant influence in nearly every corner of the world Bassam Tibi a widely recognized expert on Islam and Arab culture offers an important and disquieting analysis of this particular synthesis of religion and politics A Muslim and descendant of a famous Damascene Islamic scholar family Tibi sees Islamic fundamentalism as the result of Islam's confrontation with modernity and not only as it is widely believed economic adversity The movement is unprecedented in Islamic history and parallels the inability of Islamic nation states to integrate into the new world secular order For this updated edition Tibi has written a new preface and lengthy introduction addressing Islamic fundamentalism in light of and since September 11 Long before the tragic events of September 11 2001 Islamic fundamentalism was exerting a significant influence in nearly every corner of the world Bassam Tibi a widely recognized expert on Islam and Arab culture offers an important and disquieting an Ethnologia Europaea 26:1 Bjarne Stoklund,

Never Again Andrew I. Port, 2023-05-02 Germans remember the Nazi past so that it may never happen again But how has the abstract vow to remember translated into concrete action to prevent new genocides abroad As reports of mass killings in Bosnia spread in the middle of 1995 Germans faced a dilemma Should the Federal Republic deploy its military to the Balkans to prevent a genocide or would departing from postwar Germany's pacifist tradition open the door to renewed militarism In short when Germans said never again did they mean never again Auschwitz or never again war Looking beyond solemn statements and well meant monuments Andrew I Port examines how the Nazi past shaped German responses to the genocides in Cambodia Bosnia and Rwanda and further how these foreign atrocities recast Germans understanding of their own horrific history In the late 1970s the reign of the Khmer Rouge received relatively little attention from a firmly antiwar public that was just discovering the Holocaust By the 1990s the genocide of the Jews was squarely at the center of German identity a tectonic shift that inspired greater involvement in Bosnia and to a lesser extent Rwanda Germany's increased willingness to use force in defense of others reflected the enthusiastic embrace of human rights by public officials and ordinary citizens At the same time conservatives welcomed the opportunity for a more active international role involving military might to the chagrin of pacifists and progressives at home Making the lessons limits and liabilities of politics driven by memories of a troubled history harrowingly clear Never Again is a story with deep resonance for any country confronting a dark past

Imagining the City Christian Emden, Catherine Keen, David R. Midgley, 2006 Based on papers given at the conference Imagining the City held in Cambridge in 2004 P 4 of cover v 1 Reproductive Freedom Maja Kirilova

Eriksson, 2021-09-27 This is the first book to provide a comprehensive investigation of reproductive freedom in the light of contemporary international law The author discusses reproductive freedom in the context of feminist legal theory international human rights and humanitarian law This holistic approach makes the book unique and enhances its value as a comprehensive resource on the most challenging and contentious issues of our time i.e. legal abortion, medically assisted reproduction, surrogate motherhood, forced pregnancy during armed conflicts and many others. The author's aim is to advance current debates about gender equality and reproductive rights and to deepen the analysis of the legal concepts involved. In surveying the international commitment to women's rights and examining critically the way in which international, global and regional human rights bodies and ad hoc international tribunals deal with issues pertaining to reproductive freedom and sexual violence, this volume makes clear to what extent contemporary international law norms may be used as a tool for change and how they need to be adapted to meet the special needs of girls and women worldwide. Finally, the book explores what improvements are necessary to prevent and protect adolescents, women and men against violation of their reproductive freedom.

Memory Traces Silke Arnold-de Simine, 2005. This essay collection examines the dynamics of memory organization and the way it varies among different media and modes of discourse in post-unification Germany. German unification has put the post-war period into a historical perspective. Such a rupture raises questions concerning the appropriate commemoration, preservation and reinterpretation of the past. The processes of reorientation after unification influenced the self-perception of literary authors as well as the social role, position and status of German literature. They also affected the way writers viewed the competition in which they found themselves pitted against visual and electronic media as rival windows on the past. In the context of several debates on German literature during the 1990s, the discussion revolved not only around the adequate aesthetic representation of the historical and cultural heritage but even more so around the role of literature itself in that process. The contributions look at different discourses that were and still are concerned with reinterpreting and creating new collective symbols and narrative patterns in relation to Germany's past. The volume focuses on the effects of the characteristic discourses of the press, literature and its different genres, film, the internet and memorials on the depiction and performance of memories.

Peace with Justice? Paul R. Williams, Michael P. Scharf, 2002. In this work, two former State Department lawyers provide an account of how and why justice was misapplied and mishandled throughout the peace-builders' efforts to settle the Yugoslav conflict. The text is based on their personal experience, research and interviews with key players in the process.

Dynamics of Violence Georg Elwert, Stephan Feuchtwang, Dieter Neubert, 1999. Violence is embedded in social structure. It follows specific dynamics which make it unpredictable for the individual case but calculable as a social phenomenon. This is the central message of this reader To lay persons violence may appear as irruption or the inhuman into a human world The broad comparison of social anthropological and sociological case studies from Africa Asia Europe and South America shows however that motives and forms of violence are patterned Each pattern has its own dynamic of escalation and de escalation which makes prediction difficult for the individual case As part of these dynamics appear also restraints to the escalation called inhibitors The study of these does not promise the construction of violence free societies but it might allow for targetting interventions for peace in a more accurate manner An important element of these studies is the systematic analysis of the difference between the constructed outside appearance of violence and the dynamic system which reproduces it Thus cultural strategies of wealth accumulation prestige acquisition and healing come to the foreground Contributors to this volume include Alber Erdmute Allen Tim Elwert Georg Feuchtwang Stephan Grohs Gerhard Helbing J rg Neubert Dieter Schmidt Heike Schwandner Sievers Stephanie Strecker Ivo v Trotha Trutz Waldmann Peter Die geheime Geschichte der amerikanischen Kriege Mansur Khan,1998 Nation State by Accident Carsten Wieland,2006 In this comparative study of Muslim nation building and the so called ethnic conflicts the author reveals stunning parallels between the collapse of Tito s Yugoslavia and the ethno national separation of colonial India In both cases Muslims ended up in a nation state of their own without the majority of them wanting one There were no mass movements that demanded a new homeland which contradicts modernisation theory approaches of nationalism Wieland digs below the surface and sketches historic developments that triggered the construction and instrumentalisation of ethnic groups in both cases He concludes that the term ethnicity has lost its academic value because it suffers from inconsistencies and strong political implications Ethnicity is not an existing group of people but a concept of action and political resource detached from any historic context The ethnocentre varies In both the Yugoslavian and the Indian case it was religion around which secondary features were added as contrast boosters Bosnia and Pakistan were founded under the strong influence of political elites and external political actors like the colonial power or the international community who themselves through within the ethno national paradigm and acted accordingly This helped to create Muslim nation states despite considerable contradictions between the political action group and the ethnic group they claimed to represent While delivering convincing facts and new perspectives this book is a passionate appeal for the deconstruction of ethnic camps Die tragödie der Bundesgenossen in Deutschland und Österreich-Ungarn 1908-1914 Friedrich Stieve,1930 Medjugorje Mart Bax,1995 Medjugorje fifteen years ago an out of the way peasant village in Bosnia Hercegovina is today a Marian devotion centre of global repute Based on some ten years of fieldwork in the region the author gives a detailed account of that transformation process in which religion politics and violence are closely intertwined Adopting a long term historical approach the description also open up surprisingly new perspectives on today s problems and atrocities in Bosnia Hercegovina
