Schlüteriana III Kevin E. Kandt,2015-11-06 This third volume of the new serial publication Schlüteriana continues the commemoration of the 300th anniversary of Schlüter's death and is dedicated solely to the funerary monuments created by the sculptor his school and followers in Berlin and the Brandenburg region of north eastern Germany The single text presented here is subtitled Part Two Germany and serves as the second installment of a comprehensive in depth survey focused on this highly important genre in the sculptor's oeuvre. It completes the examination initiated by Part One Poland published in Schlüteriana II which dealt with Schlüter's tomb art created during his earlier sojourn in Polish territories. The primary aim of this current publishing project is to bring about a more complete overall understanding of the artist's production from both his Polish and German years. In these two articles we have concentrated on his funerary sculpture by providing in an essay catalogue format greatly enhanced by an exhaustive photographic documentation of each object discussed a fundamental description of monuments closely associated with the artist and his circle including comparative analysis based upon key examples from European Baroque art. Certain sepulchral monuments created by the sculptor and his assistants in Berlin may already be somewhat better known to the lay public and art historians; however those works from his Polish years have thus far still been somewhat neglected and inadequately received into the realm of Schlüter's total output. This two-part study which attempts to present all the works together along with supplemental commentary on pertinent historical, social and iconographic contexts of the times when this art was created will hopefully begin to enrich our understanding of the interrelationships they share and contribute to a fuller reconstruction of Andreas Schlüter's artistic development throughout his entire career. Schlüteriana III is being published in remembrance not only of Schlüter's death in 1714 but also as a tribute to a Berlin scholar who spent many years of her career deeply involved with research into the master's greatest work of architecture, the Berlin Stadtschloss. Her kindness and generosity in the free exchange of information led to many stimulating discussions about the artist which still after more than two decades inspire this author's own studies until today.

German Architecture and the Classical Ideal David Watkin, Tilman Mellinghoff, 1987. German Classicism is a powerful architectural force that is only now being fully studied. As this extensively illustrated book shows, palaces, private houses, public buildings and urban planning all received patronage on a scale that could not be paralleled in other countries. Of the host of architects whose genius was given such superb opportunities in the years 1740 to 1840 only Karl Friedrich Schinkel's name has become widely known; yet this book points out all over Germany rulers were dramatically transforming their capitals and the achievements of Weinbrenner at Karlsruhe, Moller at Darmstadt or Klenze at Munich are by any standards astonishing. The first part of the book is by David Watkin, a leading British authority on the Classical Revival. He provides a historical account that sets German Neoclassicism in its regional and political context and notes the impact of France and England and the Franco-Prussian style before Schinkel. He discusses Schinkel's own work, that of Leo von Klenze and Neoclassicism in North and South Germany. The book's second part consists of an index of buildings prepared by Tilman Mellinghoff. Here every important Neoclassical building, both existing and destroyed, is listed and described under its location. The index is an invaluable source of information available nowhere else in English. David Watkin is a Fellow of Peterhouse and a University Lecturer in History of Art at Cambridge University. Tilman Mellinghoff is an Assistant Lecturer at the Universities of Cologne and Bonn.
