A narrow, light-colored path or clearing runs horizontally through the center of the image. The lighting is soft, suggesting an overcast day or a shaded forest floor.

Pursuing Quality, Access, and Affordability Stephen C. Ehrmann, 2023-07-03 Whether they recognize it or not virtually all colleges and universities face three Grand Challenges Improve the learning outcomes of a higher education A large majority of college graduates are weak in capabilities that faculty and employers both see as crucial Extend more equitable access to degrees Too often students from underserved groups and poor households either don't enter college or else drop out without a degree The latter group may be worse off economically than if they'd never attempted college Make academic programs more affordable in money and time for students and other important stakeholder groups Many potential students believe they lack the money or time needed for academic success Many faculty believe they don't have time to make their courses and degree programs more effective Many institutions believe they can't afford to improve outcomes These challenges are global But in a higher education system such as that in the United States the primary response must be institutional This book analyzes how over the years six pioneering colleges and universities have begun to make visible cumulative progress on all three fronts
