advances in AI and Mechanism Design provide a vital tool for solving collective action problems common in international relations. By using AI to optimize mechanisms for cooperation and coordination we can better address issues such as climate change, trade and security. Mechanism Design, Behavioral Science and Artificial Intelligence in International Relations shows readers how the intersection of Mechanism Design and Artificial Intelligence is revolutionizing the way we approach international relations. By using AI to optimize mechanisms we can design better institutions, policies and agreements that are more effective and efficient. Dr Tshilidzi Marwala, United Nations University Rector and UN Under Secretary General, presents the essential technologies used in Game Theory, Mechanism Design and AI and applies these to significant global issues such as interstate conflict, cybersecurity and energy. International relations are a complex field with many different actors and interests in play. By incorporating AI into our analysis and decision making processes we can better understand and predict the behavior of multiple actors and design mechanisms that take these behaviors into account, thereby producing more desirable and creative interdisciplinary approaches. The book presents real world applications of these rapidly evolving technologies in crucial research fields such as Interstate Conflict, International Trade, Climate Change, Water management, Energy, cybersecurity and global finance. Provides insights for computer scientists, researchers, practitioners and policymakers on how to develop practical tools to solve many complex problems in international relations such as climate change, cybersecurity and interstate conflict. Presents the necessary computer science, mathematical methods and techniques in AI, game theory, mechanism design and algorithm development. Includes real world applications of AI and mechanism design in a wide variety of research topics such as international conflict, international trade, climate change, water management, energy, management, cybersecurity and global finance.
