Confucian Continuum Educational Modernization In Taiwan:

The Confucian Continuum Douglas Clifford Smith, Douglas C. Smith, 1991-04-04 This comprehensive volume features essays on education in modern Taiwan each coauthored by a Chinese scholar and an American counterpart The work furthers understanding and communication between two diverse cultures The focus is on how another society is attempting to deal with issues in education currently being addressed in Western academic and political circles Taiwan is a particularly good example for educators in the United States to study because the country is one of the most dynamic fast changing and economically successful societies in the world using the vehicle of education to assure social harmony and the self actualization of its students and to prepare students for careers in business science government service and service oriented careers The team approach to each essay assures that no published research from either culture has been overlooked Some of the research is field based others use more traditional research methodology Other societies can be viewed as laboratories where experiments in educational excellence are taking place and where Americans can learn how to better educate students Schooling has many common elements worldwide much education has been shaped by Western practices In Taiwan the ethos shows a Western pattern of organization and a highly technological orientation side by side with traditional Chinese values This laboratory lets us see how innovations and reforms work and how to spot pitfalls Students in a variety of Education courses will benefit from these skillfully written articles The Confucian Continuum demonstrates the successes that education has brought to the Chinese people of Taiwan and the problems that rapid modernization presents to the traditional education system

Religion in Modern Taiwan Philip Clart, Charles B. Jones, 2003-09-30 Religion in Modern Taiwan takes a new look at Taiwan's current religious traditions and their fortunes during the twentieth century Beginning with the cession of Taiwan to Japan in 1895 and the currents of modernization that accompanied it the essays move on to explore the developments that have taken place as Buddhists Daoists Christians non Han aborigines and others have confronted resisted and adapted to even thrived in the many upheavals of the modern period An overview of Taiwan's current religious scene is followed by a comprehensive look at the state of religion in the country prior to the end of World War II and the return of Taiwan to Chinese sovereignty The remaining essays probe aspects of change within individual religious traditions The final chapter analyzes changes that took place in the scholarly study and interpretation of religion in Taiwan during the course of the twentieth century Religion in Modern Taiwan will be read with interest by students and scholars of Chinese religion religion in Taiwan the modern history of Taiwan and by those concerned with issues of religion and modernization

Stratification in Higher Education Yossi Shavit,Richard Arum,Adam Gamoran,Gila Menachem,2007-06-13 The mass expansion of higher education is one of the most important social transformations of the second half of the twentieth century In this book scholars from 15 countries representing Western and Eastern Europe East Asia Israel Australia and the United States assess the links between this expansion and inequality in the national context Contrary to most expectations the authors show that as access to higher education expands all social classes benefit Neither greater diversification nor privatization in higher education results in greater inequality In some cases especially where the most advantaged already have significant access to higher education opportunities increase most for persons from disadvantaged origins Also during the late twentieth century opportunities for women increased faster than those for men Offering a new spin on conventional wisdom this book shows how all social classes benefit from the expansion of higher education
