Nayar,2015-09-28 This new anthology brings together the most diverse and recent voices in postcolonial theory to emerge since 9 11 alongside classic texts in established areas of postcolonial studies Brings fresh insight and renewed political energy to established domains such as nation history literature and gender Engages with contemporary concerns such as globalization digital cultures neo colonialism and language debates Includes wide geographical coverage from Ireland and India to Israel and Palestine Provides uniquely broad coverage offering a full sense of the tradition including significant essays on science technology and development education and literacy digital cultures and transnationalism Edited by a distinguished postcolonial scholar this insightful volume serves scholars and students across multiple disciplines from literary and cultural studies to anthropology and digital studies

Connexity Geoff Mulgan,1997 Contrasts the implications of individual and global approaches to future world development Careers Guidance in Context Bill Gothard,Phil Mignot,Marcus Offer,Melvyn Ruff,2001-09-04 Helping others to make occupational choices requires a combination of skill and a deep understanding of the world of work as it is today and will be in the future Unlike texts that focus only on skill Careers Guidance in Context is designed to develop understanding of the factors that shape both the labour market and careers guidance as an occupation in itself Careers Guidance in Context re evaluates the concept of a career in the light of economic restructuring globalization and the growth of information technology It draws together up to date theories about guidance work and debates the importance of integrating theory and practice Examining the processes in which practitioners engage when working with individual clients the book also explores careers guidance within a group setting an area that has previously been neglected in the literature The book will be invaluable to students on courses in careers guidance counselling and education It will also be of great interest to professionals who need to keep up to date with current thinking and practice

The Relational Lens John Ashcroft,Roy Childs,Alison Myers,Michael Schluter,2016-10-19 Drawing on the authors combined years of experience in both private and public sector organisations this practical book highlights the importance of relationship building between individuals groups and organisations in diverse contexts It will make a valuable read for business professionals and graduate students in fields as varied as change management leadership organisational psychology and organisational behaviour Employing the Relational Proximity framework it provides tools for informing assessment of the relational impact of policy and management decisions enabling evaluation of organisational relationships providing a language for constructive discussion of strained relationships and integrating a range of models and perspectives within one process Using real world case studies and models the conditions within which people are more likely to form and conduct effective relationships are also examined This combined approach provides the language and concepts to enable constructive discussion and actionable solutions in building trust and sustainable value ThirdWay ,1997-05 Monthly current affairs magazine from a Christian perspective with a focus on politics society economics and culture Rethinking Administrative Theory Jong S. Jun,2002 Striving to redirect the study of public administration toward innovation and imagination deliberative democracy knowledge transfer policy making and ethics and values topics which for too long have been overshadowed by traditional problems of efficiency productivity and instrumental rational solutions this book of diverse essays is certain to invigorate both scholarship and practice Eighteen leading international scholars evaluate public administration s historical development and explore the significance and value trends in public administration from a variety of cutting edge theoretical and practical perspectives Aimed at students and practitioners alike this collection of essays is certain to stimulate critical thinking and discussion of public administration s aims mechanisms and overall effectiveness as well as the role it plays in democratizing countries

Social Networks and Social Exclusion Chris Phillipson,Graham Allan,D. H. J. Morgan,2004 There is now substantial evidence that attachment to a network may be vital to maintaining a healthy lifestyle Providing an overview of the social network literature with a particular focus on the USA and Britain this illuminating volume reviews the range of social issues and concerns associated with the social network perspective Eastern Promise Tim Butler,2000 What are the challenges that face a new campus for a university particularly in an area such as East London which is in need of regeneration and investment Can a university become integrated into the community and at the same time contribute to the regeneration of that community both by helping individuals and the community as a whole If so what can it do and how The authors consider these questions in relation to the new campus of the University of East London which is situated in Docklands The essays in this book consider how the university should adapt itself to these changing needs and expectations They argue that there can no longer be a single model of what a university should be Non traditional universities need to redefine their roles and find new ways of meeting local needs This will include new relationships between teachers and students more involvement in the regeneration of the local economy including in the cultural industries more involvement in training including a role in lifelong learning access courses and other intermediate forms of education new partnership with other agencies local industry the local state and voluntary agencies New Institutional Spaces Martin Jones,1999 Since the beginning of the 1980s Britain has experienced a series of complex changes in economic government the networks policy priorities and institutional delivery of local economic development Combining the insights of regulation theory and strategic relational state theory the author of this text examines the construction implementation and role of Training and Enterprise Councils TECs Through the example of TECs the author puts economic governance into context by arguing that institutional change is driven by the short term imperatives of the political system and not the long term skill needs of regional and local economies

Imaginary Futures Richard Barbrook, 2007-04-20 Winner of the MEA's 2008 Marshall McLuhan Award for Outstanding Book in the Field of Media Ecology A compelling authoritative and painstakingly documented narrative Imaginary Futures traces the emergence of the computer era in the context of desperately competing ideologies economics and empires This is a work of passionate and persuasive scholarship by a contemporary social theorist at the top of his game Douglas Rushkoff author Coercion Media Virus Get Back in the Box Imaginary Futures gives insight into how the dominant utopias of today were shaped in the time of the Cold War and served the ideological needs of the elites While the Cold War West had a much better present it was the Soviet East which had a vision of the future The invention of a Western utopia became an important factor in the struggle for global power Boris Kagarlitsky Senior Research Fellow Institute for Comparative Political Studies Russian Academy of Sciences The future is now Richard Barbrook argues that at the height of the Cold War the Americans invented a truly revolutionary tool the Internet Yet for all of its libertarian potential hi tech science soon became a tool of geopolitical dominance The rest of the world was expected to follow America's path into the networked future Today we're still told that the Net is creating the information society Barbrook shows how we can reclaim its revolutionary purpose how the DIY ethic of the internet can help people shape information technologies in their own interest and reinvent their own improved visions of the future

The End of Everything Richard Appignanesi, 2003 A collection of writing introduced by the ever idiosyncratic Will Self

The Moderniser's Dilemma Anne Coddington, Mark Perryman, 1998 Party reform the restructuring of the British state the competing claims of the theories of modernization and the potential appeal of an alternative politics of the new are all chronicled in this text

Economic Developments and Reforms in Cooperation Partner Countries Reiner Weichhardt, 1998

Global Control Peter McMahon, 2002 Information systems and control technologies are key to globalization and while generally facilitating the overall trend to spatial reorganization they also effect change through the pervasive influence of internal systems logic Thus the author argues the dominant institutions of states firms and markets transform global development and are themselves transformed by key information technologies More specifically the book identifies the key phases of modern globalization and analyses the crucial role played by different information technologies at each point in time
