Confident Learner:

The Confident Learner Marjorie Rose Simic, Melinda McClain, Michael Shermis, 1992 This book is intended to assist parents in helping their children become confident learners and self-reliant individuals who succeed in school. The book maintains that children become confident learners by developing high self-esteem, strong motivation, self-discipline, good health and fitness, and the ability to deal with stress. Following an introduction, the book's eight chapters are as follows: Helping Your Child Develop Self-Esteem, 2. How To Motivate Your Child, 3. Stress Affects Your Child's Learning, 4. Discipline and Learning, 5. Parents as Models, 6. Homework Is Home Learning, 7. Fitness and School Achievement, and 8. Working with the School. Each of the book's chapters includes practical suggestions and activities for fun and learning for reading and writing for recreation, for coping with stress, and for motivating children to learn effectively. Each chapter also presents lists of relevant books for parents for children in age categories 4-6, 6-8, and 8-10, and for parents and children to read together. SR

Induction, Algorithmic Learning Theory, and Philosophy Michèle Friend, Norma B. Goethe, Valentina S. Harizanov, 2007-08-21 The idea of the present volume emerged in 2002 from a series of talks by Frank Stephan in 2002 and John Case in 2003 on developments of algorithmic learning theory. These talks took place in the Mathematics Department at the George Washington University. Following the talks, Valentina Harizanov and Michèle Friend raised the possibility of an exchange of ideas concerning algorithmic learning theory. In particular, this was to be a mutually beneficial exchange between philosophers, mathematicians, and computer scientists. Harizanov and Friend sent out invitations for contributions and invited Norma Goethe to join the editing team. The Diltz Fellowship of the George Washington University provided resources over the summer of 2003 to enable the editors and some of the contributors to meet in Oviedo, Spain, at the 12th International Congress of Logic, Methodology, and Philosophy of Science. The editing work proceeded from there. The idea behind the volume is to rekindle interdisciplinary discussion. Algorithmic learning theory has been around for nearly half a century. The immediate beginnings can be traced back to E. M. Gold's papers "Limiting recursion" (1965) and "Language identification in the limit" (1967). However, from a logical point of view, the deeper roots of the learning-theoretic analysis go back to Carnap's work on inductive logic (1950-1952). Sparking Student Motivation Eric M. Anderman, 2020-08-06 Be the change that lights the learning fire. Facing a classroom of attentive, focused, and ready-to-learn students is a teacher's dream. Nevertheless, this is not always the reality, and pulling students along when they don't seem interested is frustrating. Too often, a teacher's daily experience does not align with the dream. This book is here to show how you, as a classroom teacher, can generate enthusiasm, confidence, and joy in your students. You can affect motivation and make a difference in their lives. Delve into the what, why, and how by reflecting on your own experiences and unpacking multiple factors that affect motivation. Then learn how to spark motivation using practical, research-informed strategies that address how to hone student grouping, rewards, technology, and competition for positive impact. Confront and disarm testing conflicts to make assessments a pleasant student experience Examine and empower teacher student relationships Rethink rules and procedures to improve behavioral outcomes Read this book and you ll come away prepared to implement strategies that rekindle a love for learning
