Conflicting Loyalties And The State In Post Soviet Russia And Eurasia:

Conflicting Loyalties and the State in Post-Soviet Russia and Eurasia Michael Waller, Bruno Coppieters, Aleksei Vsevolodovich Malashenko, 1998 The final chapter relates the evolution of these conflicting loyalties to the global weakening of the nation state and distinguishes what is particular to the Soviet state and its demise from more significant questions of analytical importance posed by the collapse of a major contemporary multi national state Political Loyalty and the Nation-State Andrew Linklater, Michael Waller, 2004-06-01 Political Loyalty and the Nation State examines the gradual weakening of the state's ability to order the political allegiances of its subjects At the focal centre of the book lies the question of the extent to which it is possible to invest political principles such as the rules and procedures of democracy with a sentiment of loyalty and whether political loyalty can become merely a matter of choice and personal responsibility The authors consider theoretical issues problems of loyalty arising from population movement and case studies of conflicts of loyalty from Italy Northern Ireland and Russia It is shown that loyalty can become decoupled from state territory and nation that loyalties can be multiple and that today's loyalties reflect advanced attitudes towards difference Eastern Europe, Russia and Central Asia 2003, 2000 Power, Networks and Violent Conflict in Central Asia Idil

Tunçer-Kılavuz, 2014-06-27 When the five Central Asian republics gained independence from the Soviet Union in 1991 expectations of violent conflict were widespread Indeed the country of Tajikistan suffered a five year civil war from 1992 to 1997 The factors that the literature on civil wars in general and on the Tajikistan civil war in particular cites as the causes of war were also present in Uzbekistan but this country had a peaceful transition Examining this empirical puzzle by isolating the crucial factors that caused war to break out in Tajikistan but not Uzbekistan this book applies a powerful comparative approach to the broader question of why civil wars occur Based on fieldwork in both countries it challenges many common explanations of civil war both generally and in Tajikistan in particular This includes highlighting the importance of elites power perceptions which have their origins in the interaction of structural process and network related variables Without examining these interactions macro structural explanations alone cannot explain the occurrence of civil war in one country and its absence in another Applying the insights of bargaining theories of war from the literature on international relations to the civil war in Tajikistan this book will be of interest to students of violent conflict civil wars Central Asia and Asian Politics

Islam in Russia: The Politics of Identity and Security Shireen Hunter, 2016-09-16 This richly detailed study traces the shared history of Russia and Islam in expanding compass from the Tatar civilization within the Russian heartland to the conquered territories of the Caucasus and Central Asia to the larger geopolitical and security context of contemporary Russia on the civilizational divide The study's distinctive analytical drive stresses political and geopolitical relationships over time and into the very complicated present Rich with insight the book is also an incomparable source of factual information about Russia's Muslim populations religious institutions political organizations and ideological movements
