Counseling is a supplement designed to help counselors and counselors in training simultaneously acquire competence in both career counseling and multicultural counseling. The goal of this text is not only to describe the philosophical reasons for practicing culturally appropriate career counseling but also to provide counselors with concrete ways to implement those philosophies. The first half of the book comprises four chapters focusing on the foundational skills for effective counseling across cultures. It is crucial for counselors and counselors in training to master these multicultural skills before moving on to the second half of the text which integrates those multicultural competencies with specific career counseling competencies.

Preparation, Collaboration, and Emphasis on the Family in School Counseling for the New Millennium Gwendolyn M. Duhon, Tony J. Manson, 2000. This volume utilizes an interdisciplinary approach to issues and practices in school counseling with submissions from professionals, practitioners, educators, and academicians in school counseling, counselor education, and teacher education.

Introduction to Therapeutic Counseling Jeffrey A. Kottler, 2004. This text provides students with an overview of the counseling profession including information on what counseling is, the history of counseling, theoretical orientations, counseling applications, and professional issues. The text's unique student-oriented focus engages students in exploring their motives for wanting to be a counselor. To help students learn about the realities of the field, Kottler includes Voices from the Field sections which contain interviews with practicing counselors discussing the challenges they've faced and the ways they resolved those challenges. Experiential and reflective exercises integrated into every chapter help the student reflect on the material.
