Bangladesh Confronts Climate Change Joseph

Hanlon,Manoj Roy,David Hulme,2016-11-21 Living in a low lying and densely populated country on the front line of climate change Bangladeshis are taking a lead in adapting to rising temperatures and campaigning to limit climate change Global warming will worsen this country s existing environmental problems causing a rise in sea level more flooding and stronger more damaging cyclones Bangladeshis know what is coming and how to respond because they are already effectively combating environmental and social challenges Cyclone shelters and warning systems have cut the fatality rate dramatically new varieties of rice have raised nutrition levels women s education has slowed population growth land is being raised to respond to sea level rise Bangladeshis will keep their heads above water but at huge costs Will the industrialised countries curb their greenhouse gas emissions and pay for the damage they have already done

Facing Global Environmental Change Hans Günter Brauch,Navnita Chadha Behera,Patricia Kameri-Mbote,John Grin,Úrsula Oswald Spring,Béchir

Chourou,Czeslaw Mesjasz,Heinz Krummenacher,2009-06-04 The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth sessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the

IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on climate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world
