Consciousness Literature And Theater Theory And Beyond:

Consciousness, Literature and Theatre Peter Malekin, Ralph Yarrow, 1997-04-11 The book relates to the study of spirit and spirituality mind intelligence consciousness and epistemology literature and theatre From a basis in recorded experience it rethinks the nature of spirit and relates spirit to the human mind and it questions the unprovable assumptions underlying contemporary objectivist and scientific approaches to intelligence language and knowledge It develops a model of the mind and extended states of consciousness and uses this to explore the rhythmical structures fundamental to literature and theatre

Time, Consciousness and Writing ,2018-11-26 Time Consciousness and Writing brings together a collection of critical reflections on Peter Malekin s model of the mind which he saw as a crucial yet often neglected aspect of critical theory in relation to theatre literature and the arts The volume begins with a selection of Peter Malekin s own writings that lay out his critique of western culture its overstated claims to universal competence and validity and lays out an alternative view of consciousness that draws partly on Asian traditions and partly on underground traditions from the west The essays that follow commissioned for this volume critically examine Malekin s ideas drawing out their implications in a variety of contexts including theatre liturgical performance poetry and literature The book ends with an assessment of future prospects opened by this work

Ethical Encounters Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe, 2020-06-12 The essays on dimensions of theatre ethics at the heart of contributions to this volume demonstrate how individual academics and theatre artists have thought about the ethical implications of theatre and present the concepts and paradigms that have guided and influenced their thinking They raise relevant issues and debate these in clearly defined but not uniform ways ways that have helped them to come to terms with the issues they raise The reader may agree or disagree with individual authors or individual arguments If such agreement or disagreement supports them to form and develop their own opinions and resultant actions this book has served its purpose This volume arises from the 2007 and 2008 TaPRA conferences and all of its essays at one level or another reflect upon what is possible within the environment of theatre Possibility is one form of ethical engagement with the boundaries of philosophy and performance and reminds us of the inherently political aspect of any ethical question So whilst the most obviously ethically oriented papers appear towards the end of the volume in a separate section let us bear in mind that throughout certain limits of representation will always be in question for any understanding of theatre

European Culture in a Changing World Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe, 2004 In the words of Ezra Talmor To deal with European Culture in a Changing World is to deal in fact with the reciprocal relation between Politics and Economics on the one hand and Culture on the other In an era when economic forces are pushing towards European Economic Unity or towards the Globalisation of National Markets it is rather difficult to demarcate the role of Culture While the European Narrative may have been written by Monnet De Gaulle and Adenauer the Global Narrative is written by an unknown author or rather by Adam Smith TM s Invisible Hand On the one hand the postmodernist claim that the Grand Narrative is dead is given the lie A Grand Narrative is now being written not by Philosophers but by Managers of Multinationals The Foucauldian or a parole it speaks is instantiated by the anonymous authors of the Global Narrative The question to be asked is What will happen to the rich mosaic of National European Cultures The answer to this question is not only a matter of National Memory and National Identity it is also a matter of the sources of cultural creativity L TM Europe de nations may have been the theatre of endless national wars but it was also the cradle of a very rich mosaic of national cultures The point is how will creative genius adapt to the two new trends European Unification and Globalism This volume brings together essays by leading scholars in a myriad of disciplines all of which attempt to shed light on these issues Contributions by Nicholas Perdikis Shari L Boyd William A Kerr Sylvia MacPhee Marcela Cristi Anu Randveer Martti Randveer Viljar Jaamu Vello Vensel Anatoly Zotov Warren Breckman Douglas Moggach Malgorzata Bogunia Borowska Alexandros Kioupiolis Eric W Ruckh Avron Kulak Kevin P Spicer Bernard Zelechow Dorothy M Betz Robert Stanley Rosemary Gray Jean Francois Thibault John Danvers Ewa Macura William A Everett Armand Singer Daniel Meyer Dinkgr fe

Theatres of Thought Daniel Watt, 2021-02-19 Theatre fundamentally makes things appear Philosophy fundamentally makes things appear Philosophy is at work in all disciplines The issue is less about bringing them together but rather articulating the fact that they like science and art have never been truly apart Theatre has been gradually increasing its theoretical articulation over decades fascinated by the possibility of transforming thought into spectacle The essays collected in this volume address these issues from wide ranging perspectives and approaches They arise from meetings of the Theatre Performance and Philosophy working group at the 2005 and 2006 conferences of TaPRA Theatre and Performance Research Association and from papers presented under the auspices of CTPP Centre for Theatre Performance and Philosophy at Aberystwyth University

Alfred Farag and Egyptian Theater Dina A. Amin, 2008-10-27 As one of Egyptian theater's leading contemporary playwrights Alfred Farag has had a profound influence on shaping Arabic drama and Egyptian cultural politics during the past five decades His plays interrogate the human condition exposing the struggles of nonheroic individuals faced with political social and economic abuse Farag's dramatic themes his tireless campaign to democratize the theater and his encouragement of cultural awareness in the remote and rural regions of Egypt as well as the cities led to his battles with censorship imprisonment and exile This remarkable writer's indomitable spirit is clearly displayed by spending significant time while imprisoned writing plays for performances by his fellow prisoners. In the first book-length examination of his work in English, Dina Amin chronicles Farag's career and offers a critical perspective on his creative output and the condition of Egyptian theater in the 1970s through the 1990s. Farag is best known for the folkloric and neorealist plays he produced during the sixties, but critics have consistently overlooked the immense body of work produced in the thirty years that followed. Filling that gap, Amin offers an account of the sophisticated development of his later work, revealing his bold experimentation and successful embrace of modernist, absurdist, and postmodern styles. With fresh insight, Amin contextualizes these works within Farag's own creative history and the larger history of Arabic theater. This critical text includes four complete short plays and a monologue translated for the first time into English and will bring a much deserved wider audience to the work of this extraordinary dramatist.

Current Contents, 1998      The Theatre of the Real Gina Masucci MacKenzie, 2008. The Theatre of the Real traces the thread of jouissance, the simultaneous experience of radical pleasure and pain, through three major theatre figures of the twentieth century. Gina Masucci MacKenzie's work engages theatrical text and performance in dialogue with the Lacanian Real so as to re-envision modern theatre as the cultural site where author, actor, and audience come into direct contact with personal and collective traumas. By showing how a transgressively free subject may be formed through theatrical experience, MacKenzie concludes that modern theatre can liberate the individual from the socially constructed self. The Theatre of the Real revises views of modern theatre by demonstrating how it can lead to a collaborative effort required for innovative theatrical work. By foregrounding Yeats's dancer plays, the author shows how these intimate pieces contribute to the historical development of musical as well as modern theatre. Beckett's universal dramas then pave the way for Sondheim's postmodern cacophonies of idea and spirit as they introduce comic abjection into modernism's tragic mode. This exciting work from a new author will leave readers with fresh insight to theatrical performance and its necessity in our lives.

Consciousness, Theatre, Literature and the Arts Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe, 2006. In May 2005 the University of Wales Aberystwyth hosted the First International Conference on Consciousness, Theatre, Literature and the Arts. 80 delegates from fourteen countries attended the conference. This book collects 40 of the papers presented, characteristic of the wide range of topics and disciplines represented at the conference.

International Bibliography of Book Reviews of Scholarly Literature Chiefly in the Fields of Arts and Humanities and the Social Sciences, 1999      The Literary Criterion, 1997      Staging Consciousness William W. Demastes, 2002. How theater has challenged the mind/body dualism that underpins much of Western thought. Mistaken Place Mary Elizabeth Anderson, 2009      The Stage as "Der Spielraum Gottes" Olivia G. Gabor, 2000      Living on a Horizon Desiree Lewis, 2007. Bessie Head's writing illustrates a fusion of styles, subjects, and philosophical and literary influences. This book explores this range by drawing both on postcolonial and feminist theories. Focusing on Head's acute sensitivity to social and historical experiences the book deals with Head's use of myths and trans cultural fictions that convey knowledge about her immediate world and the historical domains beyond it In addition Bessie Head's autobiographical vision generates an exploration of personal injustices as well as the processes they signal Hinduism and eastern philosophy were central to Head's philosophical vision and the book shows how this vision allowed her to explore existential questions and spiritual concerns in innovative and unexpected ways By using language auto referentially and symbolically by drawing on myths and by developing abundantly textured metaphors Head produces fictions that manifest the notions of freedom and serenity she urgently endorses and that are as concerned with challenging the realities she confronts as they are with utopian imagining
