These essays represent a selection of 40 years commentary on the political dimensions of cultural life They address the entire spectrum of culture from theories of international communication to the provision of cultural and leisure facilities at local level As a former consultant to the Council of Europe the author has developed a penetrating insight into the decision making process between local authorities and citizens groups which is discussed in two seminal papers from the 1980s which pioneered the concept of Cultural Democracy In addition the book s close readings of novels and plays by Irish and Greek writers explore the way that all writing and forms of self expression have a political message and repercussions Cad chuige an Ghaeilge? Hilary Tovey, 1989 Schools and Society in Ireland

Corcoran, Perry Share, 2008 The contributors to this volume deal with the notion of belonging how it evolves manifests itself is shaped and challenged across a range of contexts in contemporary Ireland In

Albay, 2020-03-04 This book offers a comparative study on the literary configurations of nation state identity in the works of the contemporaneous Halide Edib Advar and Lady Augusta Gregory specifically focusing on their roles as social reformists female activists and anti imperialists through the components of national identity such as gender language and transnational exchanges It exposes the critical stance adopted by Lady Gregory and Halide Edib against British imperialism and questions if these writers exhibit a local or international outlook of anti imperialism It is the first comparative study on Lady Gregory and Halide Edib and explores how their anti imperial stances shaped or influenced their sense of national identity It will allow the reader to reach a unique evaluation of the literary works of these two writers with different cultural backgrounds but similar national ideals

Books in Print, 1977 The Information Revolution and Ireland Lee Komito, 2004 This book focuses on issues arising from the technological revolution that we are all experiencing It is not intended to be an exhaustive or definitive discussion of the digital revolution or the Information Society nor does it proclaim or denounce the new Information Society However whether there is a new economic political and social order emerging or not and whether the new order is beneficial or detrimental to citizens all agree that significant changes are taking place Often it seems as though we are all bystanders watching change take place but having very little participation in the process The central issue in this book is that technology including the new information and communications technology linked with the Information Society is not a force external to society and beyond the control of society it is an integral part of society Komito does not try to predict the future his aim is to encourage individuals to contribute to policy choices so that the society that emerges is one that citizens desire rather than one that is not of their making or choosing He encourages discussion and thought rather than proclaiming conclusions By using Irish examples the book will be of especial value on Information Studies courses for Irish students but by dealing with global issues in a highly readable way this book will be applicable to courses elsewhere
