Social Justice and Islamic Economics Toseef Azid,Lutfi Sunar,2019-02-25 Under the rule of the current economic order social injustice is ever increasing Issues such as poverty inhumane working conditions inadequate wages social insecurity and an unhealthy labor market continue to persist Many states are also unable to produce policies capable of resolving these problems The characteristics of the capitalist system currently render it unable to provide social justice In fact on the contrary the system reinforces these injustices and prevents economic and social welfare from reaching the masses Many Muslim scholars have analyzed and indeed criticized this system for years This book argues that an alternative and more equitable theoretical and practical economical order can be developed within the framework of Islamic principles On the other hand the experiences of societies under the rule of Muslim governments do not always seem to hold great promise for an alternative understanding of social justice In addition the behaviors of Muslim individuals within their economic lives are mostly shaped by the necessities of daily economic conditions rather than by the tenets of Islam that stand with social justice Until 1990s studies of Islamic economics made connections between finance and the notion of social justice but work conducted more recently has neglected this issue It is therefore evident that the topic of social justice needs to be revisited in a more in depth manner Filling an important gap in existing literature the book uniquely connects social justice and Islamic finance and economics on this topic Theory practice and key issues are presented simultaneously throughout this book which is based on the writings of a number of eminent scholars Understanding Muslim Philanthropy Shariq A.

Siddiqui,Rafeel Wasif,Micah A. Hughes,2024-08-06 This important book locates and defines contemporary Muslim philanthropy and philanthropic institutions within the rich and diverse history of Islamic practice In doing so Shariq A Siddiqui Rafeel Wasif and Micah A Hughes examine religious discourses on the topic and question the universality of our current definitions Integrating Artificial Intelligence, Security for Environmental and Business Sustainability Allam examines Muslims perception of and reaction to the challenges and changes occurring in contemporary life and questions their ability to relate the Qur'an and the figure of Muhammed to 19th and 20th century culture The inherited world view of Islam is compared with the emerging newly discovered world view of the late 20th century and is explored in two ways firstly by examining modern Muslim views on religious authority and by considering their effect on the actual lived practice of Islam Essential reading for all scholars and lecturers of Islam and comparative religion Faith in Finance Allison Dale

Minor, 2014 In this thesis I examine contemporary manifestations of the Islamic practice of zakat and its relationship with mainstream international development Zakat is one of the five pillars of Islam it requires all Muslims who possess above a certain level of wealth to pay roughly 2.5 percent of their disposable income to eight beneficiary groups defined in the Qur'an Over the past several decades and especially in the past 15 years zakat has become an increasingly institutionalized transnational practice managing billions of dollars of aid every year Contemporary zakat institutions have also placed an increasingly strong emphasis on poverty alleviation that has brought their activities in closer contact with those of mainstream international development organizations Despite the important role that zakat institutions play in social welfare and the significance of zakat practice across the Muslim world there has been little scholarly analysis of contemporary zakat practice particularly regarding its relationship with international development This thesis seeks to initiate a dialogue around the relationship between contemporary zakat institutions and mainstream international development organizations particularly the potential for coordination or conflict between them Such a dialogue must be based on a strong understanding of zakat as a complex dynamic and diverse practice To establish this foundation I begin with an analysis of contemporary shifts in interpretations and manifestations of zakat Following this analysis I conduct a closer examination of the structure activities beneficiary groups and discourse of contemporary zakat institutions through case studies of the West Bank and Lebanese Zakat Funds Finally I compare the goals methods and activities of zakat institutions and mainstream international development organizations like the United States Agency for International Development USAID and the World Bank This allows me to examine the potential for different forms of coordination between zakat institutions and mainstream development and discuss challenges to such coordination I conclude with recommendations on key strategies for enhancing coordination that will be in the interest of both zakat institutions and mainstream development organizations and ultimately enhance the effectiveness of the aid they deliver The Islamic Voluntary Sector in Southeast Asia Mohamed Ariff, 1991

The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him.
