Conceptions of Rule and God in 3 Maccabees

Abstract: In 3 Maccabees, kingship as a form of rule is addressed on two levels: On the political level the question about a good king is addressed against the background of Hellenistic understandings of kingship, using the example of Ptolemy IV Philopator. This king is portrayed at the beginning of 3 Maccabees as a successful, positive, Hellenistic ruler, but one whose good rule goes off the rails. This analysis of the ideal of Hellenistic rule (cf. 3 Macc. 3:12–29; 6:24–28; 7:1–9) is then taken to a theological level: the God of Israel is portrayed as the true good king, the Soter who saves his people in their time of greatest trial (6:29, 32; 7:36). By these means the many divine epithets that are a striking feature of 3 Maccabees are incorporated into the narrative (cf. 2:2–3). Thereby 3 Maccabees not only thematises the conflict with a Hellenistic king who exploits his power in diverse ways but also focuses in a concentrated way the notion of a good (Hellenistic) king into the notion of God as king and ruler.

Keywords: Maccabees, Hellenistic kingship, Xenophon, Cyropaedia, Isocrates, God in 3 Macc

In the book so-called 3 Maccabees we learn nothing about the Maccabees or about the period of the Maccabees. Rather, the book portrays events that took place during the rule of the Ptolemaic king Ptolemy IV Philopator (222/1–205/4 BCE). The relationship of King Ptolemy IV to the Jewish community is narrated in two episodes:¹ the threat posed by the king's desire to enter the temple in Jerusalem (1:1–2:24), and the attempt, initiated by the king, to kill the Jews of Alexandria in the hippodrome (2:25–7:22). Third Maccabees ascribes to King Ptolemy IV Philopator the deliberate plan to annihilate the Jews with the help of his administration and his army. There is no historical basis for the story; in the time of Ptolemy IV the government apparently had no major problems with the

Exploring the Work of Leonardo Da Vinci Within the Context of Contemporary Philosophical Thought and Art Adrian Parr, 2003 This study explores the work of Leonardo da Vinci with the aim of developing a concept of creative production It argues that the conditions of a truly creative practice require an imaginative re working of the real so that new and unforeseen realities can emerge Studying Leonardo s notebooks and sketches where a cross pollination of theory and practice abounds it shows that creativity is critical power that operates in between the real and ideal confounding the clear cut distinction between them This understanding of power
