Multilingual Digital Humanities Lorella Viola, Paul Spence, 2023-12-28 Multilingual Digital Humanities explores the impact of monolingualism, especially Anglocentrism, on digital practices in the humanities and social sciences. The volume explores a wide range of applied contexts such as digital linguistic injustice, critical digital literacy, digital learning, digital publishing, low-resourced/minoritized or endangered languages in a digital space and multilingual historical intertextuality. These discussions are situated within wider work on language technologies, language documentation and internationalization, in particular European language-based infrastructure creation. Drawing on both primary and secondary research, this four-part book features 13 diverse case studies of infrastructural projects, pedagogical resources, computational models, interface building and publishing initiatives in a range of languages including Arabic, French, Russian, Portuguese, Italian, German, Spanish, Bengali, Hindi, Malayalam and Tamil. All the debates are contextualised within a wider cultural frame, thus bridging the gap between the linguistic focus of the multilingual initiatives and wider discussion of cultural criticism. In DH Multilingual Digital Humanities recognizes the digital as a culturally situated and organic multilingual entity, embedding past, present and future worlds which reacts to and impacts on institutional and methodological frameworks for knowledge creation. It is essential reading for students, scholars and practitioners working in digital humanities and digital studies
