Contributions Toward The Resolution Of Conflict In Guyana:

Contributions Towards the Resolution of Conflict in Guyana Judaman Seecoomar, 2002 Examining the conflict in Guyana the author finds a country floundering in ethnic insecurity that the state has failed to constructively address guaranteeing continuing violence and instability He examines the roots of conflict between Afro Guyanese and Indian Guyanese arguing that the state's continuing reliance on coercive force to repress minorities will fail to end the conflict He proposes a model called Collaborative Analytical Problem Solving as a framework for ending the conflict and briefly examines the Israeli Palestinian conflict and the South African experience as lessons in conflict resolution Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The New African Diaspora Isidore Okpewho, Nkiru Nzegwu, 2009-08-26 The New York Times reports that since 1990 more Africans have voluntarily relocated to the United States and Canada than had been forcibly brought here before the slave trade ended in 1807 The key reason for these migrations has been the collapse of social political economic and educational structures in their home countries which has driven Africans to seek security and self realization in the West This lively and timely collection of essays takes a look at the new immigrant experience It traces the immigrants progress from expatriation to arrival and covers the successes as well as problems they have encountered as they establish their lives in a new country The contributors most immigrants themselves use their firsthand experiences to add clarity honesty and sensitivity to their discussions of the new African diaspora
