Twentieth-century Spanish Fiction Writers Martha Eulalia Altisent, Cristina Martínez-Carazo, 2006 Essays on a variety of Spanish authors who shaped the development of Spanish fiction in the twentieth century Entries focus on the interconnections between life and writing and trace the writers personal response to the cultural intellectual and political concerns of the day as well as to the traditions and literary styles that shaped their imagination Provides a condensed assessment of the authors aesthetic and personal preferences as shown through their writings

Josep Pla Joan Ramon Resina, 2017-05-08 Josep Pla is Catalonia's foremost twentieth century prose writer He witnessed and wrote about some of the twentieth century's most notable events including the Spanish Civil War and the foundation of the state of Israel. Due to a lack of translations of his work, he is only now being discovered by the international audience and will soon join the ranks of major realist writers in world literature. In Josep Pla, Joan Ramon Resina teases out the writer's deep-seated intellectual concerns and challenges the assumption of Pla as an anti-intellectual. Resina condenses Pla's forty-seven volumes of work, including travel books, narrative fiction, and history, into eleven thematic units, including time, memory, perception, life, religion, metaphysics, utopia, and self-delusion. Resina acutely explores the writer's authorial gaze and invites the reader to see the world through the eyes of one of the most underappreciated observers and writers of the twentieth century. *Catalogue of the Allen A.
