contributors to Mothers and Food go beyond the normative discourses of health and nutrition experts and beyond the idealistic images that are part of marketing strategies. They explore what really drives mothers to maintain or change their family's foodways for better or for worse, paying a particular attention to how this shapes their maternal identity. Questioning the motto according to which people are what they eat, the chapters in this volume show that mothers cannot be categorized simply by how they feed themselves and their family.

Live Well Spend Less Sophie Gray, 2009-04-24 Simple practical ways to save money in your household. This simple practical and definitely not boring book on living well while spending less will appeal to families but also to students, flatters and fixed income households. It incorporates tips, suggestions and serious strategies but with a light-hearted, easy to apply and honest approach. Covering all aspects of life, there are suggestions for making money as well as using less of it. Sophie Grey aka the Destitute Gourmet wants to motivate and encourage rather than hector and lecture. It is not a book about investment, mortgage repayment or banking. Each chapter includes immediate as well as longer term suggestions. The immediate ideas are to capture the initial enthusiasm and motivation and longer term strategies will result in bigger savings given time or effort. Topics include food, energy, cleaning, cars, outdoors, family life, kids and money, leisure, celebrations, looking sharp and presents.

Destitute Gourmet Sophie Gray, Shaun Cato-Symonds, 2002 Good food that looks great and doesn't cost a fortune: that is the philosophy of Sophie Gray.

Global South Ethnographies Elke Emerald, Robert E. Rinehart, Antonio Garcia, 2016-07-15 Both an introduction to sensory ethnography and a bold display of the sophisticated use of the sensory for contemporary ethnography, Global South Ethnographies: Minding the Senses reflects both indigenous and non-mainstream takes on the sensory and the sensual in ethnographic practice. The authors provide a collection of original and timely chapters from both the hegemonic northern and Global Southern hemispheres. As the chapters stem from across a variety of disciplines, the book gives us novel ways of determining and perceiving the sensory.

Enjoy! Sophie Gray, 2007 Sophie Gray's latest Destitute Gourmet book Enjoy! is packed with delicious recipes that are easy to make for everyday meals as well as celebrations. As an added bonus, Sophie gives gluten-free and allergy-free alternatives for 70% of these recipes. Sophie's philosophy is that although we all love to eat good food, most of us have to watch what we spend so all her recipes are reasonably inexpensive to make. Home cooking is a real challenge: making something delicious out of what you have to hand and doing it again tomorrow and the next day and the next 365 days a year. Add to that the need to cater for individual tastes and specific dietary needs all within a budget. However, in Enjoy! Sophie proves it can be easy and delicious. Her mouth-watering categories are: Mainstays, Comfort food, Pizza, pasta and risotto, Fresh, fast and fantastic, Desserts, Celebrations, baking, Sweet Dreams and Basics. Beautifully photographed by Aaron McLean and gorgeously styled, this is a brilliant addition to any home cook's library.
