Deterrence And The Revolution In Soviet Military Doctrine:

Deterrence and the Revolution in Soviet Military Doctrine Raymond L. Garthoff, 1990 In this book Soviet expert Raymond L Garthoff makes use of unique newly available material including a complete file of the confidential Soviet General Staff journal to illuminate the development of Soviet military thinking Armageddon and Paranoia Rodric Braithwaite, 2018 A comprehensive chronological and gripping account of how nuclear policy has shaped world history Professional Journal of the United States Army, 1991 Review of Current Military Literature, 1991 Military Review, 1991 Soviet Military Doctrine Raymond L. Garthoff, 2019-01-13 Originally published in 1953 Soviet Military Doctrine by Soviet analyst Raymond L Garthoff was prepared as part of the research program undertaken for the United States Air Force by The RAND Corporation At the time of its first publication Soviet Military Doctrine was the most complete and authoritative study available of the basic military science of the USSR Garthoff again joins the debate on nuclear deterrence and Moscow's military intentions He draws on previously confidential Soviet sources including a complete file of the Soviet general staff journal to interpret new developments and changes in the Kremlin's strategic policy Highly recommended for academic libraries James R Kuhlman University of Georgia Library Athens Naval War College Review, 1992 Year Book of Soviet Foreign Relations 1991 Alex Pravda, 1991-12-31 This reference book records the details underlying Soviet foreign relations with the rest of the world during 1990 The book contains region by region reviews giving a narrative account of the year's events and an analysis of their political significance There is also a country by country section giving the dates of events important in relations between the Soviet Union and the respective countries There is also an overview of the military and economic factors governing Soviet foreign policy details of Soviet activity in international organizations and a personnel listing Naval War College Review Naval War College (U.S.), 1992 Military Persuasion Stephen J. Cimbala, 1994 In Military Persuasion Stephen J Cimbala reconciles two central approaches to war and peace studies In the study of crisis management and war termination the security literature overwhelmingly emphasizes the making of credible deterrent threats and coercive bargaining while peace studies and conflict resolution literature focuses on conciliation and the offering of acceptable terms prior to or during a conflict Cimbala contends that both threats and accommodation have their place in successfully preventing and ending conflicts Military Persuasion is particularly welcome in the 1990s as policy makers and scholars debate whether nuclear deterrence deserves credit as a positive factor in the avoidance of military confrontation between the superpowers during the Cold War years Cimbala examines several cases of great power decision making before during and after the Cold War to demonstrate that deterrent threats alone have not successfully avoided war during this century In some important instances such as the months leading up to World War I threats have actually fed into a chain of miscalculation that ultimately led to war Cimbala also considers the Berlin crisis of 1948 the Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962 and the Gulf War of 1991 the first major post Cold War conflict Military Persuasion makes a significant contribution to war and peace studies firmly grounded in a realistic appraisal of the human dimension to crisis management Russia and Armed Persuasion Stephen J. Cimbala, 2001 In Russia and Armed Persuasion Stephen J. Cimbala argues that Russia's war planners and political leaders must make painful adjustments in their thinking about the relationship between military art and policy in the twenty first century Russia must master the use of force for persuasion not just destruction As the author shows military persuasion requires that Russian leaders master the politico military complexity of crisis management deterrence and arms control and the limitation of ends and means in war Russia now has scarce resources to devote to defense and can no longer afford the stick only diplomacy and strategy that have characterized some of its recent past Russian and Soviet military thinking historically emphasized the blunderbuss and total war overwhelming mass firepower and conflicts of annihilation or prolonged attrition However historical experience also forced Russia and the Soviet Union to come to grips with crisis management and with limited aims and means in the conduct of war On the one hand Russia failed the test of military persuasion in its management of the July 1914 crisis that plunged Europe into World War I On the other hand the Soviet Union did adjust to the requirements of the nuclear age for crisis management deterrence and limited war Using this mixed record of Russian and Soviet success and failure in twentieth century experience Cimbala argues that Russia can and must improve in the twenty first century According to the author the first decades of this century will pose at least three immediate challenges to Russia's military persuasion Russia must continue to pursue strategic nuclear arms control and arms reductions with the United States and avoid re starting the Cold War by means of an ill considered race in missile defenses Second Russia must maintain a surer grip on the military information revolution especially as it pertains to the management of Russia's nuclear deterrent Third Russia must develop forces that are more flexible Controlling and Ending Conflict Stephen J. Cimbala, Sidney Waldman, 1992 This provocative and authoritative study covers all the major aspects of conflict termination before and after the Cold War Cimbala and Waldman together with prominent analysts offer different insights into the key issues and military and political strategies to end and control conflict in a radically changing world They define basic principles and consider intrawar deterrence and various ways to control and end all types of war in an age of nuclear proliferation Force and Diplomacy in the Future Stephen J. Cimbala, 1992-05-30 This volume focuses on the relationship between force and policy as it might be viewed by the major powers in the future especially in the context of the end of the Cold War and efforts to contain nationalism and irredentism which threaten to spread from the Balkans and the new states in the former Soviet Union Cimbala begins with the the role of NATO in the new age of nuclear escalation and the role of coercive strategy in the Gulf Crisis of 1991 He then discusses Prussian military theorist Karl von Clausewitz's argument that war and politics are inseparable and his views on the problem of military escalation Cimbala also covers the roles of punishment and denial in contemporary nuclear strategy and concludes with the implications of the study for the role of force and policy in the future ISBN 0 275 94109 4 47 95 European Affairs , 1991
