Prescription and Tradition in Language Ingrid Tieken-Boon van Ostade, Carol Percy, 2016-11-14 This book contextualises case studies across a wide variety of languages and cultures crystallising key interrelationships between linguistic standardisation and prescriptivism and between ideas and practices It focuses on different traditions of standardisation and prescription throughout the world and addresses questions such as how nationalistic idealisations of traditional language persist or shift amid language change linguistic variation and multilingualism The volume explores issues of standardisation and the sociolinguistic phenomenon of prescription as a formative influence on the notional standard language as well as the interconnections between these in a wide range of geographical contexts It balances the otherwise strong emphasis on English in English language publications on prescriptivism and breaks new ground with its multilingual approach across languages and nations The book will appeal to scholars working within different linguistic traditions interested in questions relating to all aspects of standardisation and prescriptivism Litteratur der Landes- und Volkskunde des Deutschen Reichs Richter, 1896 Deutsche Sprachlehre für Ausländer Heinz Griesbach, 1978

A History of Poetics Sandra Richter, 2010-02-23 Since the 1990s following the end of postmodernism literary theory has lost much of its dynamics This book aims at revitalising literary theory exploring two of its historical bases German poetics and aesthetics Beginning in the 1770s and ending in the 1950s the book examines nearly 200 years of this history thereby providing the reader with a first history of poetics as well as with bibliographies of the subject Particular attention is paid to the aesthetics and poetics of popular philosophy of the Hegel school empirical and psychological tendencies in the field since the 1860s the first steps towards a plurality of methods 1890 1930 theoretical confrontations during the Nazi period as well as the rise of formalist and anthropological approaches from the 1930s onwards All approaches are evaluated regarding their relevance for academia as well as for the general history of education If possible international references and contexts of the relevant theories are taken into account In sum the analysis not only shows how differentiated historical accounts in the field were but also reflects how current literary theory could move forward through the rediscovery of sunken ideas
