Deutschland Im Film Themenschwerpunkte Des Spielfilms In Der Bundesrepublik Deutschland Materialien Zur Landeskunde:

Germany on Film Hans Günther Pflaum, 1990 During the past decade a number of English language works on West German cinema since World War II have been published Though they have dealt with the genre in general historical and theoretical terms their treatment of individual films and more specific thematic concerns has been minimal This translation of Hans Günther Pflaum's Deutschland im Film is the first work in English to provide a means to analyze and interpret the thematic complexity and apparently obscure symbolism of much of serious West German cinema Pflaum focuses on the context and content of a large number of films helping the reader to understand both a given work's socio historical background as well as the aesthetic intent of its author/director Among the topics of Pflaum's treats are the rediscovery of a regional German genre the proletarian film crime and war films avant garde and experimental films comedies and films based on literary works For this English language edition Pflaum provided additional text material to bring the information in the 1985 German edition up to date Cinema specialists teachers and students of contemporary German culture and society as well as film critics and journalists will find his work invaluable in understanding the thematic multiplicity the divergent social and political concerns and the aesthetic/didactic intentions of West German filmmakers
