

Developing an Original Musical Instrumental

Topic: Tech & Engineering | Words: 1719 | Pages: 6

Project Plan

Project description and background

The hobby selected for this project plan is to develop a musical instrument within 30 days. Musical instrument gadgets are created to produce musical sounds. Principally, any object that makes sound may be regarded as a musical instrument. The musical instrument should be created and stored well. After many years of having the same musical instrumental, we came together and resolved that there was a need to come up with an original musical instrument. The design and implementation of musical instruments are typically complex, with several steps to ensure all critical information is included at the right place and time to guarantee efficient, secure, effective, and reliable performance of the project's final project. Each stage is crucial because it may either help the project development to succeed or fail if not done properly. Each stage is technical, even though it needs to be attainable if executed properly. The purpose of developing a musical instrument is to bring life to musical sounds and remove some monotonous experiences in the current musical instrument.

Further, the most critical thing is to assure each development stage meets all the requirements included and utilizes the right material executed by qualified experts to accomplish the desired project's aspects. In accomplishing the project's expectations, developers focus on completing the assigned activities to execute within the stipulated time. Our focus is working on the delivery of an original musical
