Religion in International Politics and Development J. A. Rees, 2011 This unique and fascinating book illustrates that in moving the research agenda forward despite whatever methodological pitfalls that may await in the attempt the dynamics of religion must now be considered to be of central and abiding importance in the study of world politics An illuminating case study of the World Bank's engagements with religion faith communities institutions and social movements provides insights into the current discourse on religion in international relations John A Rees argues that religion is of equal importance to other structures of international relations IR and questions where religion is operating in world politics rather than what religion is in an essential sense He constructs a new model for differentiating three distinct discourses of religion in the theory and practice of world politics which he applies to the IR sphere of international development and encourages new thinking in the field by answering conceptual and methodological challenges in religion research This book will prove an enlightening point of reference for academics and researchers in the fields of religion world politics international relations and development studies as well as for international organisations development theorists and practitioners working in conjunction with faith based organisations

Theory and Practice of Dialogical Community Development Peter Westoby, Gerard

Dowling, 2013-07-18 This book proposes that community development has been increasingly influenced and co-opted by a modernist soulless rational philosophy reducing it to a shallow technique for solving community problems In contrast this dialogical approach re-maps the ground of community development practice within a frame of ideas such as dialogue hospitality and depth For the first time community development practitioners are provided with an accessible understanding of dialogue and its relevance to their practice exploring the contributions of internationally significant thinkers such as P Freire M Buber D Bohm and H G Gadamer J Derrida G Esteva and R Sennett What makes the book distinctive is that first it identifies a dialogical tradition of community development and considers how such a tradition shapes practice within contemporary contexts and concerns economic social political cultural and ecological Second the book contrasts such an approach with technical and instrumental approaches to development that fail to take complex systems seriously Third the approach links theory to practice through a combination of storytelling and theory reflection ensuring that readers are drawn into a practice theory that they feel increasingly confident has been tried and tested in the world over the past 25 years

Dialogue in Pursuit of Development Jan Olsson, Lennart Wohlgemuth, 2003 Dialogue is often considered to be the hub of international relations not the least in development co-operation However it is extremely difficult to achieve dialogue in its true sense between partners in development Its efficiency is severely constrained due to the asymmetry in financial and human resources and knowledge Dialogue in development co-operation is in that respect not an interaction between equals How to overcome such constraints is a challenge for all actors involved and the main line of inquiry in this study More than twenty practitioners with long experience of working with development co operation present personal reflections and ideas about the concept and process of dialogue

Case-Based Reasoning Research and Development Ashwin Ram, Nirmalie Wiratunga, 2011-08-30 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 19th International Conference on Case Based Reasoning held in London UK in September 2011 The 32 contributions presented together with 3 invited talks were carefully reviewed and selected from 67 submissions The presentations and posters covered a wide range of CBR topics of interest both to practitioners and researchers including CBR methodology covering case representation similarity retrieval and adaptation provenance and maintenance recommender systems multi agent collaborative systems data mining time series analysis Web applications knowledge management legal reasoning healthcare systems and planning systems

A Cautious New Approach Denghua Zhang, 2020-03-20 As a student of international relations and a former diplomat Zhang brings the insights of a practitioner and the eye of scholar to explain why Chinese actors choose to engage in aid cooperation with traditional donors in the Asia Pacific This book is among the first to take a holistic approach to understanding the motivations of the many agencies involved in China's aid program and it will challenge the expectations of many readers Dr Graeme Smith The Australian National University This book breaks new ground by examining a little known dimension of China's foreign policy trilateral aid cooperation Denghua Zhang sets this highly original analysis in the context of the new assertiveness of Chinese foreign policy under Xi Jinping the China International Development Cooperation Agency established in 2018 and the Belt and Road Initiative which now serves as the framework for Chinese overseas aid and engagement At a time when the debate in the West about the rise of China has intensified not always knowledgeably this book fills an important gap in our understanding of China in Southeast Asia and the Pacific Dr Stewart Firth The Australian National University This thoroughly researched work examines trilateral cooperation as a new and interesting aspect of China's growing international aid program and as a window into the changing nature of that program as well as the wider foreign policy in which it is embedded The broad themes and topics discussed are clearly significant ultimately touching on one of the most important international issues of our time the implications of the rise of China for a long established Western dominated international system Prof Terence Smith Wesley University of Hawaii

From Rio+20 to a New Development Agenda Felix Dodds, Jorge Laguna-Celis, Liz Thompson, 2014-01-21 Twenty years after the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development The Earth Summit the Rio 20 conference in 2012 brought life back to sustainable development by putting it at the centre of a new global development partnership one in which sustainable development is the basis for eradicating poverty upholding human development and transforming economies Written by practitioners and participants involved in the multilateral process of negotiations this book presents a unique insider analysis of not only what happened and why but also where the outcomes might impact in the future particularly in the UN development agenda beyond 2015 The book throws light on the changing nature of multilateralism and questions frequent assumptions on how policy is defined within the UN It shows that Rio 20 was more than an international meeting it represented a culminating point of decades of successes and failures and a watershed moment for seminal concepts ideas and partnerships including the Green Economy zero tolerance on land degradation the introduction of Sustainable Development Goals the creation of national measurements of consumption production and well being that are intended to go beyond GDP the introduction of national green accounting and the commitment of billions of dollars for sustainable development partnerships including Sustainable Energy for All The authors conclude by mapping out a new agenda for development in 2015 when the current Millennium Development Goals framework is due to expire An agenda that will restore faith in the UN and inspire a global response to the demographic economic and environmental challenges that will define our future in the decades to come

The Development of Dramatic Art Donald Clive Stuart,1928 Trade, Development and Environment Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee,2006-08-16 This report finds that Department for International Development DFID has the potential to take the lead internationally on integrating the environment into development the structures and links exist but there is still an under appreciation of the role of the environment in sustainable development The report sets out the background covering what poor people want the Millennium Ecosystem Assessment and Millennium Development Goals It then considers development aid and how it is changing Then the DFID s performance in integrating environment into development is critically examined Subjects covered include DFID policy water climate and energy agriculture growth environmental capacity environmental screening and the environment strategy The Committee notes the failure of the Department to develop a coherent approach on the ground as a damning review of country programmes has shown It also highlights many areas where policy is poorly drafted and implemented and where the Department s environmental expertise has been allowed to wither The recent White Paper Eliminating world poverty 2006 Cm 6876 ISBN 0101687621 is seen as a missed opportunity to make the environment as central to its work as the Department itself has made clear it should be
