Gostin, 2018-03-27 Institutions matter for the advancement of human rights in global health Given the dramatic development of human rights under international law and the parallel proliferation of global institutions for public health there arises an imperative to understand the implementation of human rights through global health governance This volume examines the evolving relationship between human rights global governance and public health studying an expansive set of health challenges through a multi sectoral array of global organizations To analyze the structural determinants of rights based governance the organizations in this volume include those international bureaucracies that implement human rights in ways that influence public health in a globalizing world This volume brings together leading health and human rights scholars and practitioners from academia non governmental organizations and the United Nations system They explore the foundations of human rights as a normative framework for global health governance the mandate of the World Health Organization to pursue a human rights based approach to health the role of inter governmental organizations across a range of health related human rights the influence of rights based economic governance on public health and the focus on global health among institutions of human rights governance Contributing chapters each map the distinct human rights efforts within a specific institution of global governance for health Through the comparative institutional analysis in this volume the contributing authors examine institutional dynamics to operationalize human rights in organizational policies programs and practices and assess institutional factors that facilitate or inhibit human rights mainstreaming for global health advancement

Canadian International Development Assistance Policies Cranford Pratt, 1996 For 25 years Canadians have argued whether the Canadian International Development Agency is the primary vehicle for helping basic human and development needs of the poorest countries and people or a tool for commercial exploitation and foreign policy Contributors from the government development organizations and academia analyze the components of Canadian aid the issues the agency has to deal with and the pressures it responds to Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR      Democracy and Development R.C. Bhardwaj, K. Vijayakrishnan, 2018-10-26 Published in 1998 The question of whether democracy and development are allies or adversaries has long been debated and with the triumph of the democratic spirit worldwide the relationship between democracy and development has once again come to attract much attention globally The collapse of the Soviet Union and the developments in Eastern Europe led to considerable rethinking in political circles on the efficacy of the economic policies pursued in those countries and the long term viability of political systems prevalent there Elsewhere several newly industrialized countries are striving to consolidate their gains though there are differing perceptions of whether their politics conform to the classical framework of democracy or not In a remarkable turn around some other countries have initiated measures for economic reforms and structural adjustment setting aside their earlier approaches towards economic management In short the last decades of this millennium have witnessed meaningful efforts worldwide on forging a new partnership between democracy and development In February 1996 the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association jointly organized a conference entitled Parliamentary Democracy and Development Allies or Adversaries with the Wilton Park an international agency of the British Commonwealth and Foreign Office in Wilton House West Sussex United Kingdom The week long conference brought together parliamentarians diplomats administrators political scientists economists and specialists from all over the world The participants shared their views and experiences on diverse aspects of the main theme This publication presents an essentially parliamentary perspective on the correlation between democracy and development based on the discussions at the Wilton Park conference and in the light of current thinking on the subject matter
