Development and Underdevelopment in Historical Perspective G. N. Kitching, 2011 Development and Underdevelopment in Historical Perspective Gavin Kitching, 2010-11-26 How do the intellectual origins and historical background of western and other theories of development affect their relevance to contemporary Third World conditions This is the central question behind Gavin Kitching's examination of development studies first published in 1982 from its origins in the late 1940s through to the contemporary era While presenting the contemporary radical orthodoxy of development studies Kitching argues that these theories are continuations of much older traditions of populist and neo-populist thought Development and Underdevelopment in Historical Perspective G. N. Kitching, 1989-01 While presenting the current radical orthodoxy of development studies including the ILO's employment approach and Lipton's urban bias thesis Kitching argues that these theories are continuations of much older traditions of thought Development and Underdevelopment in Historical Perspective Gavin N. Kitching, 1985 Development and Underdevelopment in America Walther L. Bernecker, Hans W. Wilber, 1988 New Perspectives on Globalization Elton V. Smith, 2002 With the emergence of global environmental issues such as ozone layer depletion the loss of biodiversity global warming and acid rain the role of economics both in the causes of these problems and in the development of policy options is being examined thoroughly This new book will show what role economics plays in this regard Also this book will provide a critical analysis of some of the speeches given by Ricardo Lagos President of Chile between March 11th 2000 when he took office and September 2001 with a view to establishing how the issues of globalisation and national identity are tackled by means of macro strategies topics and linguistic means of realisation Contents Preface China's Opening to the Outside World with Facing Economic Globalisation China's Industrial Policy and Participation in Globalisation Globalisation Hemispheric Integration and Beyond Governance and Security Issues Globalisation as War Equivalence and Convergence in the Theory and Practice of Neoliberalism Globalisation Technology and Emancipatory Politics Towards a New Multilateralism Identity and Globalisation in the Discourse of the Chilean President Ricardo Lagos What do Gelişme dergisi , 1974 The Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics: Context and concepts Célestin Monga, Justin Yifu Lin, 2015 For a long time economic research on Africa was not seen as a profitable venture intellectually or professionally few researchers in top ranked institutions around the world chose to become experts in the field This was understandable the reputation of Africa centered economic research was not enhanced by the well known limitations of economic data across the continent Moreover development economics itself was not always fashionable and the broader discipline of economics has had its ups and downs and has been undergoing a major identity crisis because it failed to predict the Great Recession Times have changed many leading researchers including a few Nobel laureates have taken the subject of Africa and economics seriously enough to devote their expertise and creativity to it They have been amply rewarded the richness complexities and subtleties of African societies civilizations rationalities and ways of living have helped renew the humanities and the social sciences and economics in particular to the point that the continent has become the next major intellectual frontier to researchers from around the world In collecting some of the most authoritative statements about the science of economics and its concepts in the African context this handbook the first of two volumes opens up the diverse acuity of commentary on exciting topics and in the process challenges and stimulates the quest for knowledge Wide ranging in its scope themes language and approaches this volume explores examines and assesses economic thinking on Africa and Africa's contribution to the discipline The editors bring a set of powerful resources to this endeavor most notably a team of internationally renowned economists whose diverse viewpoints are complemented by the perspectives of philosophers political scientists and anthropologists

Mao Tse-Tung's Theory of Dialectic F.Y.K. Soo, 2012-12-06 The year 1979 ushered in a new phase in China's long and continuous revolution Currently this new phase is being symbolically referred to by the Chinese leaders themselves as the New Long March a continuation of the legendary and historical Long March in terms of modernization which comprises the Four Modernizations Agriculture Industry Science and Technology and Military Defense Such an all encompassing attempt at modernization may appear to some at least to be something new or may indicate a radical shift in her policy But upon closer examination this decision seems only to reflect an historical continuity in terms of the two major long term goals of the Chinese Revolution national independence and modernization or industrialization The former would make China strong the latter wealthy For ever since the Opium War in 1840 and throughout the Revolutions of 1911 and 1949 China has always pursued these two revolutionary goals though with different emphases at different times This has been especially true during the past three decades as this twofold goal has dictated all of China's important policies both domestic and foreign In other words while the concrete policies may have appeared to be lacking in unity at times they have been formulated with the specific intent of achieving national independence and modernization From this perspective the New Long March marks the passage of post Mao China beyond the transition of succession toward the continued pursuit of the same revolutionary goals
