The Destiny of Isabelle Eberhardt Cecily Mackworth, 1975      Feminism and Documentary Diane Waldman, Janet Walker, 1999 Documentary and feminist film studies have long been separate or parallel universes that need to converse or collide The essays in this volume written by prominent scholars and filmmakers demonstrate the challenges that feminist perspectives pose for documentary theory history and practice They also show how fuller attention to documentary enriches and complicates feminist theory especially regarding the relationship between gender and sexuality race and ethnicity class and nation Feminism and Documentary begins with a substantial historical introduction that highlights several of the specific areas that contributors address debates over realism the relationship between filmmaker and subject historical thinking about documentary and thinking about the historical documentary biography and autobiography and the use of psychoanalysis Other essays most of which appear here for the first time range from broad overviews to close analyses of particular films and videos and from discussions of well known works such as Roger and Me and Don't Look Back to lesser known texts that might revise the canon The collection includes an extensive filmography and videography with useful distribution information and a bibliography of work in this neglected area of scholarship Lucid sophisticated and eye opening this book will galvanize documentary studies and demonstrate the need for women's and cultural studies to grapple with visual media what cu      The Production of the Muslim Woman Lamia Ben Youssef Zayzafoon, 2005-01-01 In this fascinating and important study Lamia Ben Youssef Zayzafoon examines how the Muslim woman was produced as a fixed category to serve various ideological and political ends The Production of the Muslim Woman enriches the debate in Islamic and gender studies arguing that the traditional perception of a division between spiritual Islam and a misogynist Arab culture is a recent construct derived from the rhetoric of cultural liberalism in the West In addition to incorporating the discourses of Maghrebian feminism female orientalism French psychoanalytic feminism and North African nationalism this book introduces to an Anglophone audience archival material culled from extensive research in Tunisian collections The insights offered by this book will be invaluable to students of postcolonial thought and theory gender studies Maghrebian literature and history and Middle Eastern studies      Women Adventurers, 1750-1900 Mary F. McVicker, 2015-05-07 The past quarter century has seen a number of biographies and anthologies on women travelers but to date there has been little comprehensive reference work done on the travelers themselves Some of the women were eccentric many were very adventurous some were in search of a different world British women make up the largest portion of the book's focus these particular adventurers being backed in many cases by family money scientific inquiry and the ready availability of the British seafaring tradition Entries include the woman's family background her educational history and a summary of her world travels with in many cases evocative extracts from their writings many are literary gems      Western Women and Imperialism Nupur Chaudhuri, Margaret Strobel, 1992-05-22 Western Women and Imperialism provides fascinating insights into interactions and attitudes between western and non western women mainly in the 19th and early 20th centuries It is an important contribution to the field of women s studies and primarily British imperial history in that many of the essays explore problems of cross cultural interaction that have been heretofore ignored Nancy Fix Anderson A challenging anthology in which a multiplicity of authors sheds new light on the waves of missionaries memsahibs nurses and feminists Ms a long overdue engagement with colonial discourse and feminism excellent essays The Year s Work in Critical Cultural Theory

Genealogies of Orientalism Edmund Burke,David Prochaska,2008-07-01 Orientalism as explored by Edward Said in 1978 was a far more complex phenomenon than many suspected being homogenous along the lines of neither culture nor time Instead it is deeply embedded in the collective reimaginings that were and are nationalism The dozen essays in Genealogies of Orientalism argue that the critique of orientalism far from being exhausted must develop further To do so however a historical turn must be made and the ways in which modernity itself is theorized and historicized must be rethought According to Joan W Scott author of The Politics of the Veil the essays in this collection develop a remarkable perspective on Edward Said s Orientalism placing it in a long historical context of critiques of colonial representations and deepening our understanding of the very meaning of modernity Looking beyond the usual geography of colonial theory this work broadens the focus from the Middle East and India to other Asian societies By exploring orientalism in literary and artistic representations of colonial subjects the authors illuminate the multifaceted ways in which modern cultures have drawn on orientalist images and indigenous self representations It is in this complex cross cultural collision that the overlapping of orientalism and nationalism can be found Rebel and Saint Julia Ann Clancy-Smith,1994 A very fine book contemporary and sophisticated without being trendy R Steven Humphreys author of Islamic History A Framework for Inquiry

The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History: Dance Bonnie G. Smith,2008 This encyclopedia captures the experiences of women throughout world history and illuminates how they have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes It contains over 1 300 signed articles covering six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society organizations and movements womens and gender studies and topics in world history
