Quality Criteria for Elementary Schools California. Office of School Improvement,1990 Because positive changes in a school s capacity to educate all its students are not automatic the California Department of Education has launched an educational reform model embodied in a School Improvement Plan SIP The model is based on student centered educational standards quality criteria to direct the four SIP processes of planning implementation self study and program quality review These processes were developed to engage the school community in activities to improve programs for all student populations This four part document has been designed to help members of a quality review team conduct a review of elementary school programs The review process has been designed for judging the effects of the curriculum instructional methodologies and effectiveness strategies on the students guiding the development of planned assistance and providing a model for the school s own self study process Part I describes how the quality criteria can be used for planning and implementing school improvement initiatives at a school site Part II is the guide for conducting a school s self study Part III describes the methodology and procedures of program quality review the application of the quality criteria to the school s curriculum and instructional program and the means for developing suggestions in the report of findings and action plans for improvement Part IV explains program quality review criteria for 14 areas MLH

Development and Implementation of a Quality-assured, Peer-instructional Model Kenneth Weingarten, Jacklyn E. Hungerland, Mark F. Brennan, 1972 This report describes the development and pilot testing of a low cost generalizable quality assured peer instructional model suitable to the training needs of men of varying measured aptitude The report presents a brief overview of the project followed by a detailed description of the APSTRAT model and the considerations that led to its development The model is discussed in terms of the instructional principles incorporated and the practical constraints accommodated The data comparing the performance proficiency academic attrition and recycles and costs of the conventional and APSTRAT systems indicate that APSTRAT students achieve greater proficiency with a reduction in the rate of academic attrition and a considerable savings in cost Author *Approved Estimates of Receipts and Payments of the Government of Samoa for the Year Ending ... Technical Bulletin and Review of Quality Building Products , 1954 Education and Development in Nigerian Musa Balarabe, 2018 The Quality of Education and Economic Development Stephen P. Heyneman, Daphne Siev White, 1986 Although for many years the emphasis in education was on growth and on the need to provide more classrooms increasing attention has shifted recently toward the quality and value of the education being received This document contains two studies related to the subject of educational quality The first paper reviews the relevant research on this question and reveals that school quality has substantially greater effects on changes in students cognitive and behavioral outcomes in developing than in advanced countries It also finds that school quality seems to affect the lifetime earnings of all students regardless of the level of development of their countries The author concludes that in the long run the quality of schooling provided may be more important for the future economic prospects of developing nations than expanded access to poor quality education Nevertheless knowing that educational quality has an economic effect on development does not determine whether investments in educational quality will be successfully implemented This is the subject of the second study The author argues that educational systems proceed through a series of stages during which they are able to implement increasingly more complex educational investments
