a prevailing belief that information and communication technologies were boys toys boys were assumed to have more positive attitudes toward using computer technologies As computer technologies have become more established throughout societies gender gaps in students computer and information literacy appear to be closing although studies into gender differences remain sparse The IEA s International Computer and Information Literacy Study ICILS is designed to discover how well students are prepared for study work and life in the digital age Despite popular beliefs a critical finding of ICILS 2013 was that internationally girls tended to score more highly than boys so why are girls still not entering technology based careers to the same extent as boys Readers will learn how male and female students differ in their computer literacy both general and specialized and use of computer technology and how the perceptions held about those technologies vary by gender
