Developing Assessment For The National Curriculum:

Developing Assessment for the National Curriculum C. V. Gipps, 1992 Developing Teacher Assessment John Gardner, Wynne Harlen, Louise Hayward, Gordon Stobart, Martin Montgomery, 2010-02-16 The authors are well known in the Assessment field and this work presents their highly original analysis It promotes a professional learning approach that will undoubtedly help educationalists in schools and across the schools sector in their quest to improve learning Professor Mary James University of Cambridge UK This book explores the processes involved in developing assessment practice It argues that the role of teacher assessment needs to be put firmly at the forefront of the educational agenda and that assessment by teachers needs to be developed in a widespread high quality and sustainable fashion The authors all members of the influential Assessment Reform Group argue that the target driven approach of external testing leads to problems including teaching to the test to the detriment of the wider curriculum and motivational problems In this book they tackle the differences between formative and summative assessment and ask the question What is quality teacher assessment There is coverage of key professional learning dimensions including The purposes of assessment The need for evidence to support innovation The process and steps to develop new practice Perceptions of what counts as quality assessment in schools The authors draw on these various perspectives to explain how teachers and schools can build on existing practice and develop new practices and how the system should react to support them This book is essential reading for teachers head teachers local authority professionals policy makers and academics International Handbook of Research and Development in Technology Education , 2009-01-01 This international handbook reflects on the development of the field of technology education From reviewing how the field has developed and its current strengths consideration is given to where the field might go and how it can be supported in this process This handbook argues that technology is an essential part of education for all and it provides a unique coverage of the developing field of technology education It is divided into eight sections from consideration of different approaches to education in different countries through thinking about the nature of technology perceptions of technology relationships between science technology and society learning and teaching assessment teacher education and professional development and developed and developing research approaches This book constitutes a significant collection of work from numerous countries and authors actively engaged in technology education research and development It is intended for graduate students academics researchers curriculum developers professional development providers policy makers and practitioners The development of this handbook represents an important step in the maturity of the field of technology education The field has matured as our technological society has matured to the point that research and practice can be documented as shared in this publication Historians will look at this international handbook as a significant comprehensive step for a field of education that focuses on technology innovation design and engineering for all students Kendall Starkweather Ph D DTE CAE ITEA Executive Director Developing Assessments for the Next Generation

Educational Assessment, Evaluation and Research Mary E. James, 2013-05-30 In the World Library of Educationalists international experts themselves compile career long collections of what they judge to be their finest pieces extracts from books key articles salient research findings major theoretical and practical contributions so the world can read them in a single manageable volume allowing readers to follow the themes of their work and see how it contributes to the development of the field Mary James has researched and written on a range of educational subjects which encompass curriculum pedagogy and assessment in schools and implications for teachers professional development school leadership and policy frameworks She has written many books and journals on assessment particularly assessment for learning and is an expert on teacher learning curriculum leadership for learning and educational policy Starting with a specially written introduction in which Mary gives an overview of her career and contextualises her selection the chapters are divided into three parts Educational Assessment and Learning Educational Evaluation and Curriculum Development Educational Research and the Improvement of Practice Through this book readers can follow the different strands that Mary James has researched and written about over the last three decades and clearly see her important contribution to the field of education Primary Education Anna Craft,2002-09-11 This wide ranging collection examines current and future trends in assessing and planning learning in the primary school Containing practical advice on classroom management quality control and teacher and performance assessment Assessing Children's Personal And Social Development MARTIN BUCK,Helena Burke,Sally Inman,2005-07-28 Social and personal development of pupils is an area of growing interest However while much has been done in relation to provision for development there is little available on how teachers might assess the development of pupils be it spiritual moral social or cultural The contributors also examine how we might accredit such development With provision for development on the national agenda this title looks at the repercussions and examines the difficult issues raised by assessment and accreditation and the problems with which teachers will inevitably be faced Developing Assessments for the Next Generation Science Standards Committee on Developing Assessments of Science Proficiency in K-12,Board on Testing and Assessment,Board on Science Education,Division on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,National Research Council,2014-01-24 Assessments understood as tools for tracking what and how well students have learned play a critical role in the classroom Developing Assessments for the Next Generation Science Standards develops an approach to science assessment to meet the vision of science education for the future as it has been elaborated in A Framework for K 12 Science Education Framework and Next Generation Science Standards NGSS These documents are brand new and the changes they call for are barely under way but the new assessments will be needed as soon as states and districts begin the process of implementing the NGSS and changing their approach to science education The new Framework and the NGSS are designed to guide educators in significantly altering the way K 12 science is taught The Framework is aimed at making science education more closely resemble the way scientists actually work and think and making instruction reflect research on learning that demonstrates the importance of building coherent understandings over time It structures science education around three dimensions the practices through which scientists and engineers do their work the key crosscutting concepts that cut across disciplines and the core ideas of the disciplines and argues that they should be interwoven in every aspect of science education building in sophistication as students progress through grades K 12 Developing Assessments for the Next Generation Science Standards recommends strategies for developing assessments that yield valid measures of student proficiency in science as described in the new Framework This report reviews recent and current work in science assessment to determine which aspects of the Framework s vision can be assessed with available techniques and what additional research and development will be needed to support an assessment system that fully meets that vision The report offers a systems approach to science assessment in which a range of assessment strategies are designed to answer different kinds of questions with appropriate degrees of specificity and provide results that complement one another Developing Assessments for the Next Generation Science Standards makes the case that a science assessment system that meets the Framework s vision should consist of assessments designed to support classroom instruction assessments designed to monitor science learning on a broader scale and indicators designed to track opportunity to learn New standards for science education make clear that new modes of assessment designed to measure the integrated learning they promote are essential The recommendations of this report will be key to making sure that the dramatic changes in curriculum and instruction signaled by Framework and the NGSS reduce inequities in science education and raise the level of science education for all students
