Resources in Education, 2000-10 The impact of shared leadership on group functioning and performance Stewart T. Cotterill, Katrien Fransen, Todd M. Loughhead, 2023-06-06 Resources in Education, 1996 Handbook for Middle School Teaching Paul S. George, Gordon Lawrence, Donna Bushnell, 1998 This handbook balances research based discussion and practical ideas Includes a wealth of field based and reflective activities readings and in service examples The new edition emphasizes teacher teamwork and differentiation of instruction two of the most significant new directions in middle level education A new chapter on different learning styles Ch 5 stresses developing appropriate skills to fit individual teaching styles and classrooms Also new chapters on home child and middle school Ch 6 teacher as advisor Ch 9 teacher directed instruction Ch 13 teaching gifted and at risk students in regular classrooms Ch 14 and making seatwork work Ch 15 reflect some of the latest trends today Developing Emotional Intelligence Richard J. Bodine, Donna K. Crawford, 1999 This book is a call to educate rather than control It shows how to create a noncoercive behavior management program in which students learn to intentionally use their emotions to guide them in making responsible need fulfilling choices Covers areas such as learning interpersonal relationships problem solving and adapting to the complex demands of growth development and change The appendix presents seven lessons to give students a basic understanding of their behavior emphasizing that all behavior is purposeful and that all behavior is chosen Training for Appraisal and Professional Development Jeff Jones, John Mathias, 1995 This photocopiable package is intended to support training in both schools and colleges in appraisal and professional development The book is divided into three sections managing appraisal data collection and appraisal interviewing K'oria Misyön P'ildū, 1929 China Journal of Science and Arts, 1924 The China Journal of Science & Arts, 1924 Minnesota Journal of Education, 1925 Social Responsibility and Middle School Science Barry Norman Plant, 1999 This research addresses the issues surrounding curriculum development that leads to the delivery of secondary science programs for middle school students A theoretical framework is proposed based upon socially responsible criteria which is then used to evaluate existing Years 7 to 9 science curriculum both in Australia and overseas The framework draws on research from the social studies of science the role of science and technology in society and science and technological literacy It takes into account both local and overseas developments in science education Locally the Victoria Certificate of Education and Curriculum and Standards Framework are important others include science for all national science goals and technology education Both in Australia and overseas the Science Technology and Society movement the environmental movement and National Curriculum are all factors considered The framework is used in a critique of the Australian National Curriculum and the Victorian derivative the Curriculum and Standards Framework It is shown in the critique that the Curriculum and Standards Framework is unlikely to deliver on its principal objective scientific and technological literacy The research is then used along with the theoretical framework and curricular analysis to develop a suitable middle school curriculum outline It makes use of the ideas of social responsibility with its emphasis on empowering students with knowledge to question and make judgments and to take up their democratic rights This curriculum could lead to the design of units of work that relate to these goals and as such an exemplar unit is developed which applies the guiding principles established in the thesis
