Development And The Debt Trap Economic Planning And External Borrowing In Ghana:

Development and the Debt Trap Andrzej Krassowski, 2010-11-26 Ghana is one of the earliest and most serious examples of the build up of foreign debt by a developing country to support its policies for economic growth This study first published in 1974 in conjunction with the Overseas Development Institute analyses Ghana s economy over twenty years and highlights the problems of the debtor creditor relationship between developed and developing countries The study concludes with an assessment of the creditors contribution to Ghana s critical debt position through their readiness to supply funds without adequately analysing the viability of the programmes they supported and through the repayment and interest terms they offered terms which were too heavy for Ghana to meet

The Politics of Reform in Ghana, 1982-1991 Jeffrey Herbst, 2023-04-28 Economic reform was the most pressing question for African and other Third World countries during the 1980s In this first full length examination of the political economy of adjustment in Ghana Jeffrey Herbst describes the causes of Ghana s dramatic economic decline and reviews the politics of reform that began in 1983 Since Ghana was one of the first African countries to adopt a comprehensive reform program and the one that has sustained adjustment longest the Ghanaian experience has profound ramifications for debates regarding stabilization and structural change across the continent Herbst devotes special attention to the interaction between the type of government and the politics of adjustment the reaction of interest groups such as urban labor and the peasantry and the relationship between economic and political change His extended field research and sophisticated knowledge of the issues involved both from the economic and political science literature make this study of importance not only to Africanists political scientists economists and sociologists but also to government and financial leaders wrestling with economic reform in developing countries This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1993

Economies after Colonialism Lindsay Whitfield, 2018-05-31 Despite Ghana s strong democratic track record in recent decades the economy remains underdeveloped Industrial policies are necessary to transform the colonial trading economy that Ghana inherited at independence but successive governments have been unwilling or unable to implement them In this highly original interpretation supported by new empirical material Lindsay Whitfield exposes the reasons for why the Ghanaian economy remains underdeveloped and sets her theory in the wider African context She offers a new way of thinking about the political economy of Africa that charts a clear path away from defining Africa in terms of neopatrimonial politics and that provides new conceptual tools for addressing what kind of business state relations are necessary to drive economic development As a study of Ghana that addresses both the economy and politics from early colonialism to the present day this is a must read for any student or scholar interested in the political economy of development in Africa

IMF and World Bank Sponsored Structural Adjustment Programs in Africa Kwadwo Konadu-Agyemang, 2018-10-24 This title was first published in 2001 Bringing together geographers planners political scientists economists rural development specialists bankers public administrators and other development experts this volume questions the benefits of Structural Adjustment Programmes SAPs It critically assesses the impact of SAPs from a wider perspective than a purely economic one highlighting concerns about impacts of adjustments on the more vulnerable elements of society such as social welfare the environment labour gender and agriculture Revealing both the costs and benefits of the economic restructuring programme the book also suggests alternatives to current development models and how SAPs can be made more sustainable An original and comprehensive addition to the collections of both students and practitioners of development Africa and IMF Conditionality Kwame Akonor, 2006 Ghana was one of the first African countries to adopt a comprehensive IMF reform program and the one that has sustained adjustment longest Yet questions of Ghana's compliance such as to what extent did it comply how did it manage compliance what patterns of noncompliance existed and why have not been systematically investigated and remain poorly understood This book argues that understanding the domestic political environment is key to explaining why compliance or the lack thereof occurs The author maintains that compliance with IMF conditionality in Ghana has had high political costs and thus noncompliance occurred once the political survival of a regime was at stake Akonor argues that situations in which Ghana did not comply with IMF conditionality were periods prior to elections and periods of elite conflict instability when the governments needed to muster domestic support to stay in power Economic Underdevelopment in Ghana and the Impact on the Agricultural Sector Walter Miller, 1980 External Borrowing, Export Promotion and Import Substitution in the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), 1967-1977 Africanus Bassey Akaninyene Okokon, 1981 Ghana Social Science Journal, 1977 The Nigerian Journal of Economic and Social Studies Nigerian Economic Society, 1991 Livelihood Strategies, Economic Reform and Public Institutions Francis Yaw Owusu, 2000 The Political Legacy of Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana Charles Adom Boateng, 2003 This work contributes to the fields of political science sociology development economics and international relations to furnish an understanding of the role and impact of one of Africa's and indeed the entire Third World's leading political figures
