Governance for a Progressing Africa, 2004 African Studies Review, 2004 The Changing Forms of Identity Politics in Nigeria Under Economic Adjustment Cyril I. Obi, 2001 The Niger delta region of Nigeria which is at the heart of the country's oil industry has a long history of struggles for self determination dating back to the early years of the 20th century In the 1980s and 1990s these struggles unfolding as they did within the context of military authoritarianism and structural adjustment took the form of widespread agitation for greater control by local communities of the revenues accruing to the Nigerian state from exploration and extraction of oil This study attempts to capture the transformations in ethnic minority identity politics in the oil producing areas of the Niger delta In doing this attention is simultaneously drawn to the factors informing the shift from peaceful agitation to violent protest as well as the dynamic of decay and renewal in the various ethnic minority movements that are active in the delta It is suggested that part of the solution to the crisis in the delta will involve not only a thorough going restructuring of the Nigerian state but also the re orientation of the mode of operation of the giant oil multinationals in order to make them both more sensitive and accountable to the local communities

Extended Handshake Or Wrestling Match? Fibian Kavulani Lukalo, 2006 full text pdf Perspectives on Côte D'Ivoire Cyril I. Obi, 2007 The three articles in this Discussion Paper explore different perspectives to the complex causes of the civil war that broke out in C te d Ivoire in September 2002 They are written against the background of the signing of yet another peace agreement between the Ivorian government and the former rebel New Forces NF in March 2007 This volume also provides a context where the prospects for post conflict peace national reconciliation and democracy in C te d Ivoire could be critically analyzed      Political Opposition in African Countries Karolina Hulterström, Amin Y. Kamete, Henning Melber, 2007 This Discussion Paper is another outcome of the Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa project which was coordinated at the Institute between 2001 and 2006 The papers are revised versions of presentations made at the Comparative Sociology Session of the Research Committee at the XVI World Congress of Sociology held at the end of July 2006 in Durban They explore different aspects of the role of opposition parties in several East and Southern African countries which differ according to the socio political determinants      Repressive State and Resurgent Media Under Nigeria's Military Dictatorship, 1988-98 Ayo Olukotun, 2004 This study documents a crucial dimension of the resistance of Nigerian civil society to a repressive and monumentally corrupt military state in the late 1980s and 1990s in Nigeria Employing a neo Gramscian theoretical framework the study relates how a section of the media defied censorship laws outright bans incarceration and the assassination of opposition figures to prosecute the struggle for democracy It captures the tensions and contradictions between a pliant section of the media which sought to legitimise the state and a critical section of the same media which in alliance with radical civil society invented rebellious outlets to carry on the struggle against dictatorship The study seeks to make fresh departures by documenting not only the role of the national media in the throes of democratic struggle but that of the international media whose role was influential in the years studied Finally the report offers empirical proof of the mechanisms by which a vibrant civil society can curb the ravages of a predatory state in an African country Book jacket      A Regional Study on Innovations in Gender Mainstreaming at National and Sub-national Governments K. O. Jirira, Charles Mangosuthu Halimana, 2005      On Africa Henning Melber, 2007 This volume is based on contributions to a seminar that was organized in honor of the Nordic Africa Institute's retiring Director Lennart Wohlgemuth in December 2005 African scholars presented their views on The Role of Africa in African Studies with Nordic scholars and policymakers responding The deliberations offer a spectrum of relevant approaches on both academic as well as policy oriented research and advisory work in and on Africa The contributions bridge the gap between academics and practitioners who share a common commitment to African affairs and seek to support and promote these in the international context Contributors include Olu Ajakaiye and William Lyakurwa the African Economic Research Consortium Adebayo Olukoshi the Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa G ran Hyd n University of Florida Arne Tostensen Chr Michelsen Institute in Bergen      Africa Recovery , 2003      Rebuilding of marine fisheries Part 2: Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-10-09 This report provides 13 case studies of fisheries rebuilding initiatives including measures to regulate exploitation patterns for cod and herring in the Northeast Atlantic and a performance assessment for Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean Bluefin tuna      African Industrial Development and European Union Co-operation Francis Matambalya, 2014-08-27 Of the 54 African states only South Africa is categorised by the United Nations Industrial Development Organization UNIDO amongst industrialised countries The economic activities in Africa are still dominated by the production and trade of agricultural and mineral commodities. This situation is in spite of the longstanding Africa European Union EU co operation which intends among other things to support Africa's industrialisation endeavours. Imperatively a long road to substantive levels of industrialisation still lies ahead of most African countries. This raises the question as to what role the international community could and should play in the twenty first century to provide the support needed to expedite Africa's industrial transformation. This book argues that to supplement the initiatives of each African country international partnerships of both a North South and South South nature will serve better purposes if they are leveraged to develop productive capacities in African economies. In order to enable the African countries to leverage their traditional partnership with the EU for industrialisation a paradigm shift is obligatory. A feasible model should emulate the Japanese led flying geese model and the Chinese led bamboo capitalism model. Does One Size Fit All? Amadu

Sesay, 2007. One of these approaches is the Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC believed to provide a veritable platform for victims and perpetrators alike to have a voice that would enable them to come to terms with the horrifying past. In Africa TRCs as strategies for coming to terms with the past in Africa came into prominence following the example of South Africa after the end of apartheid in 1994. Since then TRCs have been set up in Rwanda and Sierra Leone while one has been proposed for Liberia. Sustainability of Southern African Ecosystems under Global Change Graham P. von

Maltitz, Guy F. Midgley, Jennifer Veitch, Christian Brümmer, Reimund P. Rötter, Finn A. Viehberg, Maik Veste, 2024-01-05. This open access book about the sustainability of marine and terrestrial ecosystems in southern Africa provides a synthesis of the research program Science Partnerships for the Adaptation to Complex Earth System Processes SPACES II 2018-2022. It addresses the scientific, social and economic issues related to climate change, its potential impacts on the various ecosystems, adaptations and management interventions for enhancing systems resilience in Southern Africa. It is written by numerous scientists from African states and Germany and summarizes the latest research findings which are of great relevance for a better understanding of climate change impacts, adaptations and vulnerabilities as well as for developing management options and policy options to reduce the associated risks. This is crucial considering that the projected African population increase is exceptional. Furthermore, climate change is assumed to hit southern Africa extremely hard with a significant increase in extreme events and the frequency of severe droughts, heat waves and flooding. Southern Africa hosts a high variety of ecosystems which belongs to important biodiversity hotspots for unique flora and fauna. The surrounding oceans form in turn a bottle neck within the ocean's global thermohaline circulation, act as a still poorly understood carbon sink and source and play an important role for fisheries as they are highly productive. Considering these important aspects, the book is an important interdisciplinary contribution to the scientific literature and will find a wide readership. The book is aimed at students, teachers and scientists in the fields of terrestrial and marine ecology, environmental, nature and landscape planning, agriculture, environmental and resource management, biodiversity and nature conservation as well as scientists and representatives in specialised authorities and associations nature conservationists and policy makers of related disciplines

Managing Water Under Uncertainty and Risk Unesco,2012 This flagship report is a comprehensive review that gives an overall picture of the world s freshwater resources It analyses pressures from decisions that drive demand for water and affect its availability It offers tools and response options to help leaders in government the private sector and civil society address current and future challenges It suggests ways in which institutions can be reformed and their behaviour modified and explores possible sources of financing for the urgently needed investment in water The WWDR4 is a milestone within the WWDR series reporting directly on regions and highlighting hotspots and it has been mainstreamed for gender equality It introduces a thematic approach Managing Water under Uncertainty and Risk in the context of a world which is changing faster than ever in often unforeseeable ways with increasing uncertainties and risks It highlights that historical experience will no longer be sufficient to approximate the relationship between the quantities of available water and shifting future demands Like the earlier editions the WWDR4 also contains country level case studies describing the progress made in meeting water related objectives The WWDR4 also seeks to show that water has a central role in all aspects of economic development and social welfare and that concerted action via a collective approach of the water using sectors is needed to ensure water s many benefits are maximized and shared equitably and that water related development goals are achieved
