INTER-ENG 2020 Liviu Moldovan, Adrian Gligor, 2021-05-31 These proceedings contain research papers that were accepted for presentation at the 14th International Conference Inter Eng 2020 Interdisciplinarity in Engineering which was held on 8-9 October 2020 in Trgu Mure Romania. It is a leading international professional and scientific forum for engineers and scientists to present research works, contributions and recent developments as well as current practices in engineering which is falling into a tradition of important scientific events occurring at Faculty of Engineering and Information Technology in the George Emil Palade University of Medicine, Pharmacy, Science and Technology of Trgu Mures Romania. The Inter Eng conference started from the observation that in the 21st century, the era of high technology without new approaches in research, we cannot speak of a harmonious society. The theme of the conference, proposing a new approach related to Industry 4.0, was the development of a new generation of smart factories based on the manufacturing and assembly process, digitalization related to advanced manufacturing technology, lean manufacturing, sustainable manufacturing, additive manufacturing and manufacturing tools and equipment. The conference slogan was "Europe's future is digital, a broad vision of the Industry 4.0 concept beyond direct manufacturing in the company".

Integrating Artificial Intelligence and Visualization for Visual Knowledge Discovery Boris Kovalerchuk, Kawa Nazemi, Răzvan Andonie, Nuno Datia, Ebad Banissi, 2022-06-04 This book is devoted to the emerging field of integrated visual knowledge discovery that combines advances in artificial intelligence, machine learning and visualization. Visual analytic is a long-standing challenge of artificial intelligence. AI and machine learning (ML) is explaining models to humans, especially for live critical applications like health care. A model explanation is fundamentally human activity, not only an algorithmic one. As current deep learning studies demonstrate, it makes the paradigm based on the visual methods critically important to address this challenge. In general, visual approaches are critical for discovering explainable high-dimensional patterns in all types of high-dimensional data, offering n-D glasses where preserving high-dimensional data properties and relations in visualizations is a major challenge. The current progress opens a fantastic opportunity in this domain. This book is a collection of 25 extended works of over 70 scholars presented at AI and visual analytics related symposia at the recent International Information Visualization Conferences with the goal of moving this integration to the next level. The sections of this book cover integrated systems, supervised learning, unsupervised learning, optimization and evaluation of visualizations. The intended audience for this collection includes those developing and using emerging AI, machine learning and visualization methods. Scientists, practitioners and students can find multiple examples of the current integration of AI, machine learning and visualization for visual knowledge discovery. The book provides a vision of future directions in this domain. New researchers will find here an inspiration to join the profession and to be involved for further development. Instructors in AI, ML and visualization classes can use it as a supplementary source in their undergraduate and graduate classes.

Tech Wars: US-China Technology

Competition and What it Means for Australia Brendan Thomas-Noone, 2020-06-16 Technology is now the defining element of the Trump administration's self-professed strategic competition with China. Washington is highly attuned to the long-term consequences and links between scientific progress, technological adaptation, and national power in burgeoning US-China competition. Policymakers are attempting to balance efforts to maintain the open and global foundations of US and allied research and development systems while deterring those that abuse its accessible and integrated nature. While President Donald Trump has been highly inconsistent on technological issues, Congress and the executive branch have slowly moved forward in executing the 2017 National Security Strategy and protecting what it termed the US National Security Innovation Base. Congress and the Trump administration have embarked on a ponderous and at times heavy-handed effort to protect America's technological advantage across multiple domains and through actions by several branches of government. Congress has expanded the powers of the Committee of Foreign Investment to review non-controlling investments in technology companies. New export controls are being rolled out which feature vastly more expansive definitions of foundational and emerging technologies, broadening their scope and potential reach. The Department of Justice has launched a major criminal justice campaign labelled the China Initiative with the goal of prosecuting technology theft and enforcing existing regulations in every US state. Draft bills indicate the likely expansion of Congressional reform to halting the flow of US government funds flowing to overseas partners also involved in joint high-tech research and development R&D with China affecting third parties like Australia. Australia will be significantly affected by Washington's unravelling of the US-China technological relationship owing to its deep enmeshment with America's scientific infrastructure. To navigate these changes in the national interest, Canberra must consider the following: Australia will face growing pressure to limit its science and technology interaction with China in critical dual-use fields in order to maintain technological collaboration with the United States in some emerging technologies and may even be required to adopt restrictive export control policies. Australian research by universities, defence industry, business, and government agencies will be seriously impacted by the United States' expanded export control reform. Canberra should continue to lobby US policymakers on solutions such as providing exemptions under the National Technology and Industrial Base framework. As the global technological ecosystem becomes more nationalised, securitised, and difficult to navigate for industry and governments alike, Australia should implement a national research and development strategy that builds its own technological counterweight.

Modern Political Campaigns Michael D. Cohen, 2025-04-15 Dr Michael D Cohen, a 30-year veteran of working on teaching and writing about political campaigns, shows readers how campaigns are organized, explains state-of-the-art tools of the trade, and reveals how some of the most interesting people in politics got their big breaks. He combines academic insights and practical advice that will be of interest to practitioners and students considering careers in politics and people interested in how elections are won. The second edition is updated to include a new chapter on how campaigns are using artificial intelligence and what that means.

for democracy has been completely revised throughout to provide readers with an up to date understanding of how candidates succeed
