Dead But Not Lost Grief Narratives In Religious Traditions:

Dead But Not Lost Robert Goss, Dennis Klass, 2005 The dead are still with us Contemporary therapists and counselors are coming to understand what's been known for millennia in most religions and in most cultures outside the Western milieu it's important to continue bonds between the living and the dead Taking these connections seriously Goss and Klass explore how bonds with the dead are created and maintained In doing so they unearth a fascinating new way to look at the origins and processes of religion itself Examining ties to dead family members teachers religious and political leaders across religious and secular traditions the authors offer novel ways of understanding grief and its role in creating meaning Whether for classes in comparative religion and death and dying or for bereavement counselors and other trying to make sense of grief this book helps us understand what it means to feel connected to those dead but not lost Dead But Not Lost Robert

Goss, 2005 Culture, Consolation, and Continuing Bonds in Bereavement Dennis Klass, 2022-01-25 Culture Consolation and Continuing Bonds in Bereavement presents Dennis Klass's most important contributions to the scholarship of grief and bereavement Journal articles book chapters and previously unpublished works cover more than 40 years of study and practice on the forefront of our understanding of individual family and community grief The writings range widely including explorations of continuing bonds and consolation aspects of grief that were missing when Klass began his work studies of grief across different cultures and critical analyses of theories that were popular in grief scholarship but inadequately described bereaved parents' experiences The book ends with a previously unpublished case study of Charles Darwin whose experience as a bereaved parent informed the worldview at the heart of his theory of natural selection This collection of essays offers an integral understanding of how individuals move through grief and is a valuable addition to the library of anyone working with topics relevant to grieving adults children and adolescents Death and Religion in a Changing World Kathleen Garces-Foley, 2022-06-01 Death and Religion in a Changing World is a comprehensive and accessible study of the intersection of death and religion examining how everyday people enact religious responses to death in the twenty-first century With contributions from leading religious studies scholars this book moves away from the field's focus on traditional beliefs to explore how religious traditions evolve in relation to their changing social contexts Employing an ethnographic approach Death and Religion in a Changing World further details how people from a wide variety of religious traditions and people without religious affiliation draw on and adapt religious practices as they respond to death in modern societies Every chapter in this second edition has been thoroughly updated and new chapters on the ethical issues of dying including life prolonging medical treatments palliative care physician assisted suicide and euthanasia and the modern hospice movement have been added This book also covers emerging social and religious phenomena such as public shrines the Covid 19 pandemic funeral celebrants death with dignity spiritual bereavement groups and online funeral practices This cutting edge work is essential reading for students and scholars of religion who are approaching the subjects of death and religion and ritual studies Encyclopedia of Death and the Human Experience Clifton D. Bryant, Dennis L. Peck, 2009-07-15

Death and dying and death related behavior involve the causes of death and the nature of the actions and emotions surrounding death among the living Interest in the varied dimensions of death and dying has led to the development of death studies that move beyond medical research to include behavioral science disciplines and practitioner oriented fields As a result of this interdisciplinary interest the literature in the field has proliferated This two volume resource addresses the traditional death and dying related topics but also presents a unique focus on the human experience to create a new dimension to the study of death and dying With more than 300 entries the Encyclopedia of Death and the Human Experience includes the complex cultural beliefs and traditions and the institutionalized social rituals that surround dying and death as well as the array of emotional responses relating to bereavement grieving and mourning The Encyclopedia is enriched through important multidisciplinary contributions and perspectives as it arranges organizes defines and clarifies a comprehensive list of death related perspectives concepts and theories Key Features Imparts significant insight into the process of dying and the phenomenon of death Includes contributors from Asia Africa Australia Canada China eastern southern and western Europe Iceland Scandinavia South America and the United States who offer important interdisciplinary and cross cultural perspectives Provides a special focus on the cultural artifacts and social institutions and practices that constitute the human experience Addresses death related terms and concepts such as angel makers equivocal death end of life decision making near death experiences cemeteries ghost photography halo nurses caregiver stress cyberfunerals global religious beliefs and traditions and death denial Presents a selective use of figures tables and images Key Themes Arts Media and Popular Culture Perspectives Causes of Death Conceptualization of Death Dying and the Human Experience Coping With Loss and Grief The Human Experience Cross Cultural Perspectives Cultural Determined Social Oriented and Violent Forms of Death Developmental and Demographic Perspectives Funerals and Death Related Activities Legal Matters Process of Dying Symbolic Rituals Ceremonies and Celebrations of Life Theories and Concepts Unworldly Entities and Events With an array of topics that include traditional subjects and important emerging ideas the Encyclopedia of Death and the Human Experience is the ultimate resource for students researchers academics and others interested in this intriguing area of study Dying to Eat Candi K. Cann, 2018-01-05 Food has played a major role in funerary and memorial practices since the dawn of the human race In the ancient Roman world for example it was common practice to build channels from the tops of graves into the crypts themselves and mourners would regularly pour offerings of food and drink into these conduits to nourish the dead while they waited for the afterlife Funeral cookies wrapped with printed prayers and poems meant to comfort mourners became popular in Victorian England while in China Japan and Korea it is customary to offer food not only to the bereaved but to the deceased with ritual dishes prepared and served to the dead Dying to Eat is the first interdisciplinary book to examine the role of food in death bereavement and the afterlife The contributors explore the phenomenon across cultures and religions investigating topics including tombstone rituals in Buddhism Catholicism and Shamanism the role of death in the Moroccan approach to food and the role of funeral casseroles and church cookbooks in the Southern United States This innovative collection not only offers food for thought regarding the theories and methods behind these practices but also provides recipes that allow the reader to connect to the argument through material experience Illuminating how cooking and corpses both transform and construct social rituals Dying to Eat serves as a fascinating exploration of the foodways of death and bereavement

Handbook of Bereavement Research and Practice Margaret S. Stroebe, 2008 In this state of the art volume leading international scholars and clinicians provide a comprehensive and cross disciplinary overview of how rigorous research on bereavement translates into practice They identify new developments and controversies in the field relating new theories to concepts from attachment theory and emotion theory The effects of societal change and of national and international events on personal and public mourning are examined along with other areas of interest to practitioners such as grief and disaster posttraumatic growth and cultural competence in helping diverse clients cope with grief and bereavement New analyses use longitudinal data sets to trace patterns of adjustment trajectories of grieving over time and the use of coping resources The contributors also explore emerging research on the consequences of losing a loved one disenfranchised grieving continuing bonds and other critical areas Researchers and practitioners will find much to enrich and deepen their work in this thought provoking volume Cover PsycINFO Database Record c 2012 APA all rights reserved

The Many Ways We Talk about Death in Contemporary Society Margaret Souza, Christina Staudt, 2009 An interdisciplinary work that examines the representation of death in traditional and new media explores the meaning of assassination and suicide in a post 9 11 context and grapples with the use of legal and medical tools that affect the quest for a good death

Mourning Religion William Barclay Parsons, Diane Elizabeth Jonte-Pace, Susan E. Henking, 2008 Late nineteenth and early twentieth century theorists such as Freud Durkheim Weber and Marx built their intellectual edifices on what they thought would be the remains or ruins of religion in the wake of modernization But today the decline and disappearance of religion can no longer be simply assumed In the face of contemporary entanglements of religion and violence the establishment of meaning and morality remains troubling the experience of loss and change remains paradoxically constant and new theoretical perspectives feminism race studies postcolonial studies queer studies postmodernism have emerged challenging the works that mourned religion and created meaning in earlier periods The effects of this ongoing experience of mourning and symbolic loss on culture on subjectivity and on the academic disciplines of religious studies though immense are poorly understood and underinterpreted In order to correct this lacuna in scholarly thought this volume brings together a notable group of scholars who examine the ways in which recent cultural transformations inform the place of religion in the modern world Methodologically they represent the intersection of religious studies and the social scientific study of religion bringing the disciplines of psychology sociology and anthropology
