Whelan,2008-06-11 Frances Ruane Director Economic and Social Research Institute Irish and international scholars continue to be curious about Ireland s exceptional economic success since the early 1990s While growth rates peaked at the turn of the millennium they have since continued at levels that are high by any current international or historical Irish measures Despite differences of view among Irish economists and policymakers on the relative importance of the factors that have driven growth there is widespread agreement that the process of globalisation has contributed to Ireland s economic development In this context it is helpful to recognise that globalisation has created huge changes in most developed and developing countries and has been associated inter alia with reductions in global income disparity but increased income disparity within individual countries This book reflects on how from a social perspective Ireland has prospered over the past decade In that period we have effectively moved from being a semi developed to being a developed economy While the book s main focus is on the social changes induced by economic growth there is also recognition that social change has facilitated economic growth Although many would regard the past decade as a period when economic and social elements have combined in a virtuous cycle there is a lingering question as to the extent to which we have better lives now that we are economically better off Sir Samuel Ferguson in the Ireland of His Day lady Mary Catharine Guinness Ferguson,Mary Catharine Guinness Ferguson,1896 Life as a Migrant Muslim Woman in Sectarian Northern Ireland Amanda J. Lubit,2025-04-01 The lives of migrant Muslim women in divided post conflict Northern Ireland both before and after the pandemic are full of diverse stories and experiences of belonging This book explores how women strive to belong and create a home despite pervasive hatred sexism and racism Under these circumstances women employ various strategies to connect with people and places around them Using personal stories this book considers the relationships migrant Muslim women develop the places they spend time and the activities they engage with These stories are used to demonstrate the interconnectedness of gender visibility movement and placemaking as analytical concepts The Community Life of Older People in Ireland Carmel Gallagher,2008 This book is a contemporary sociological account of the lives of older people in two different communities in Ireland one urban and one rural The book is based on primary research that examined the social and community participation of older people in Rathmore and Rathbeg using both ethnographic and survey approaches The data presented provides insights into the nature of a community in a rapidly changing society and into older people's contributions to that community. It points to realms of activity that offer genuine meaning and value in older people's lives. A model of connectedness is developed in the study that identifies key characteristics and processes involved in sociability and solidarity within neighbourhoods and communities. A typology of ten relational patterns describes the different ways in which older adults may be connected within their communities. The author proposes an explanatory framework for understanding the complex and varied connections between people in communities. The book also demonstrates what older people in Ireland perceive as a good life.

Disability and Life Writing in Post-Independence Ireland Elizabeth Grubgeld, 2020-06-04 This book is the first to examine life writing and disability in the context of Irish culture. It will be valuable to readers interested in Disability Studies, Irish Studies, autobiography and life writing, working class literature, popular culture and new media. Ranging from Sean O'Casey's 1939 childhood memoir to contemporary blogging practices, Disability and Life Writing in Post-Independence Ireland analyzes a century of autobiographical writing about the social, psychological, economic and physical dimensions of living with disabilities. The book examines memoirs of sight loss with reference to class and labor conditions, the harrowing stories of residential institutions and the advent of the independent living movement and the autobiographical fiction of such acknowledged literary figures as Christy Brown and playwright Stewart Parker. Extending the discussion to the contemporary moment, popular genres such as the sports and celebrity autobiography are explored as well as such newer phenomena as blogging and self-referential performance art.

The life and times of Daniel O'Connell. Cameron & Ferguson ed Thomas Clarke Luby, 1880 Black Abolitionists in Ireland Christine Kinealy, 2024-03-29 Building on the narratives explored in volume one, this publication recovers the story of a further seven Black visitors to Ireland in the decades prior to the American Civil War. This volume examines each of these seven activists and artists and how their unique and diverse talents contributed to the movement to abolish enslavement and to the demand for Black equality. In an era that witnessed the rise of minstrelsy, they provided a powerful counter argument to the lie of Black inferiority. Moreover, their interactions with Irish abolitionists helped to build a strong transatlantic movement that had a global reach and impact. The lives explored are Ira Aldridge, the African Roscius, William Henry Lane, Master Juba, William P. Powell, Elizabeth Greenfield, the Black Swan, Reuben Nixon, James Watkins and William H. Day. Individually and collectively, they demonstrated the agency and power of Black involvement in the
