James Applewhite

Daytime And Starlight:

Daytime and Starlight James Applewhite,1997-05-01 In this powerful collection James Applewhite searches the world from the back roads of his own American Southeast to the antiquities of Europe for an expanded awareness of history Time itself these poems seem to say is wholeness the communion of generations and it is in history whether of the world community or our own families that we find the locus of our common yearnings Lucid conversational and utterly compelling Daytime and Starlight presents through an array of perspectives the ephemera of memory comic strips love letters newsreels popular music Greek and Roman statuary and juxtaposes them with a flawless instinct for the telling detail against contemporary notions of evolution and cosmology A half remembered chiaroscuro of Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr on the beach the haunting familiarity of figures in a Renaissance tapestry the vision of air green with evening in such brief suspensions of time love and beauty balance regret and loss Time and again in poem after poem Applewhite strikes a clear bell like tone of affirmation We re all in this together

Daylight Starlight Wildlife Wendell Minor,2015-05-19 In amazingly lifelike luminous paintings Wendell Minor one of America s finest wildlife and landscape painters reveals the variety of animals that surround us when we are awake and when we are sleeping Minor s vivid introduction to diurnal daytime and nocturnal nighttime creatures invites readers to experience the movements sounds colors and textures of nature By day a red tailed hawk soars through sky and by night a barn owl silently swoops through it In the daylight a family of fluffy cottontail rabbits hops into a field to forage for food and under starlight a family of pink nosed opossums does the same As day turns to night and night to day amazing critters large and small come and go Children will enjoy comparing and contrasting the roaming habits of the wonderful wildlife that surrounds us

Extinction Atmospheric Optics Group, Janet E. Shields, Monette E. Karr, Vincent W. Mikuls, Paul J. Berger, Paul A. Frederickson, Richard J. Lind, William S. Hodgkiss, 2014 The primary goals of this project for JTO and ONR Grant N00014 07 1 1060 were to further develop Extinction Imagers for use in the ocean environment and to extend the capabilities into the Short Wave IR SWIR Extinction Imaging is a method for determining the effective extinction coefficient over an extended path using a sensor at one end of the path It uses calibrated imagers to acquire the relative radiance of a dark target near the other the end of the path and the horizon sky in the direction of the dark target It is completely passive and thus covert and the hardware is robust and relatively inexpensive It uses rigorous equations which determine the extinction coefficient from the measured apparent contrast of the radiance of the dark target with respect to the horizon sky The project was very successful We found that the ocean surface could readily be used as a dark target in red and SWIR wavelengths Both the red and the SWIR measurement results were excellent for daytime Comparisons with standard instruments as well as uncertainty analysis indicated that extinction imagers provide better measurements of the atmospheric extinction losses over extended paths than other methods of which we are aware Our secondary goals were to address the night regime and to address slanted paths above the horizontal Regarding night we found that the visible sensor acquired excellent data but the ocean surface was not a good dark target in our wavelengths Recommendations on the handling of night are given in the report Regarding the lines of sight above the horizon we developed a slant path algorithm that determines beam transmittance It performed very well Recommendations are made regarding integration of these techniques for military applications
