Man-Machine-Environment System Engineering Shengzhao Long, Balbir S. Dhillon, 2023-09-04 Man Machine Environment System Engineering Proceedings of the 23rd Conference on MMESE are an academic showcase of the best papers selected from more than 500 submissions introducing readers to the top research topics and the latest developmental trends in the theory and application of MMESE. These proceedings are interdisciplinary studies on the concepts and methods of physiology, psychology, system engineering, computer science, environment science, management, education, and other related disciplines. Researchers and professionals who study an interdisciplinary subject crossing above disciplines or researchers on MMESE subject will be mainly benefited from this proceedings. MMESE primarily focuses on the relationship between Man, Machine, and Environment, studying the optimum combination of man-machine-environment systems. In this system, Man refers to working people as the subject in the workplace, e.g., operators, decision makers. Machine is the general name for any object controlled by Man, including tools, machinery, computers, systems, and technologies. Environment describes the specific working conditions under which Man and Machine interact, e.g., temperature, noise, vibration, hazardous gases, etc. The three goals of optimization of the man-machine-environment systems are to ensure safety, efficiency, and economy. The integrated and advanced science research topic Man Machine Environment System Engineering MMESE was first established in China by Professor Shengzhao Long in 1981 with direct support from one of the greatest modern Chinese scientists Xuesen Qian. In a letter to Shengzhao Long from October 22nd 1993, Xuesen Qian wrote: "You have created a very important modern science and technology in China." *The Instructor: Or, Young Man's Best Companion, Containing Spelling, Reading, Writing and Arithmetic, ... Infertility is defined as the failure to conceive with regular sexual intercourse after at least 1 year. Collectively, primary infertility (inability to conceive after one year) and secondary infertility (infertility for one year after having conceived at least once before) affect 10%-15% of couples globally, and male factors contribute to approximately 50% of cases. Both extrinsic factors (age, weight, body composition, heat exposure, smoking, drinking, environmental pollutant exposure, medical interventions, and chemotherapeutic exposure) and intrinsic factors (cell apoptosis, varicocele, metabolic syndrome, inflammation, and male gland infection) could induce oxidative stress (OS), which can lead to poor semen quality and male factor infertility. Poor lifestyles, including heavy drinking and smoking, increased BMI, and exposure to air toxics, are all associated with increased cellular OS, which can result in increased production of reactive oxygen species ROS In addition to lifestyles the level of sperm ROS also increases with age High levels of sperm ROS cause abnormal semen parameters in particular sperm concentration motility and DNA fragmentation Accordingly cellular OS should be considered in the routine clinical application of male infertility Anthocyanins which belong to one of the six subgroups of flavonoids have high antioxidant properties and may be positively associated with semen quality and male fertility Considering the emerging importance of intracellular ROS homeostasis in the development of gametes anthocyanins have been studied in reproductive development owing to the high sensitivity of anthocyanins to oxidative stress Until now several anthocyanins in fruits and other plant derived foods can confer protection in spermatogenesis disorders caused by reproductive toxic compounds implying the importance of the antioxidants in maintaining normal testicular function and male fertility This Research Topic aims to provide an up to date understanding of the intrinsic and extrinsic factors that are associated with oxidative stress in male reproduction We welcome submissions of Original Research Reviews and Case Report on the following sub topics including but not limited to Oxidative stress and sperm function e g sperm DNA fragmentation mitochondrial membrane potential MMP ROS Oxidative stress and sexual dysfunction The role of lifestyle factors and environmental pollutants in male infertility The impact of nutrients and antioxidants on male fertility The association of oxidative stress in metabolic syndrome related male infertility Role of oxidative stress in varicocele and male gland infection Inflammatory and male reproduction
