Teaching Poetry in a Digital World Stefani Boutelier, Sarah J. Donovan, 2025-04-30 Teaching Poetry in a Digital World supports English language arts ELA educators for grades 6-12 to incorporate digital literacy in their classrooms by teaching the reading and writing of poetry In an increasingly digital age educators must adapt to meet the changing needs and interests of their students by incorporating technology into the classroom This book introduces its audience to the ePoetry Framework This framework demonstrates how poetry might present itself in a literacy based unit with the benefit of a technology medium to share with the world Examples include teaching zip ode poetry incorporating haiku with the creation of GIFs and ethically discussing AI with nonet poems With adaptable lesson plans and assessments as well as educator examples the book will inspire teachers to create intentional student centered ePoetry units The book is aligned with ELA literacy standards International Society for Technology in Education ISTE educator standards and National Council of

Teachers of English NCTE's position statement for integrating technology into ELA classrooms It is a key resource for secondary school educators teaching ELA creative writing and digital media

Teaching and Learning at a Distance Michael Simonson, Susan M. Zvacek, Sharon Smaldino, 2019-07-01 Teaching and Learning at a Distance is written for introductory distance education courses for preservice or in-service teachers and for training programs that discuss teaching distant learners or managing distance education systems This text provides readers with the basic information needed to be knowledgeable distance educators and leaders of distance education programs The teacher or trainer who uses this book will be able to distinguish between appropriate uses of distance education In this text we take the following themes The first theme is the definition of distance education Before we started writing the first edition of Teaching and Learning at a Distance we carefully reviewed the literature to determine the definition that would be at the foundation of our writing This definition is based on the work of Desmond Keegan but is unique to this book This definition of distance education has been adopted by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology and by the Encyclopedia Britannica The second theme of the book was the importance of research to the development of the contents of the book The best practices presented in Teaching and Learning at a Distance are validated by scientific evidence Certainly there are rules of thumb but we have always attempted to only include recommendations that can be supported by research The third theme of Teaching and Learning at a Distance is derived from Richard Clark's famous quote published in the Review of Educational Research that states that media are mere vehicles that do not directly influence achievement Clark's controversial work is discussed in the book but is also fundamental to the book's advocacy for distance education in other words we authors did not make the claim that education delivered at a distance was inherently better than other ways people learn Distance delivered instruction is not a magical approach that makes learners achieve more The fourth theme of the book is equivalency theory Here we presented the concept that instruction should be provided to learners that is equivalent rather than identical to what might be delivered in a traditional environment Equivalency theory helps the instructional designer approach the development of instruction for each learner without attempting to duplicate what happens in a face-to-face classroom The final theme for Teaching and Learning at a Distance is the idea that the book should be comprehensive that it should cover as much of the various ways instruction is made available to distant learners as is possible It should be a single source of information about the field
