Building Tomorrow's Biomedical Workforce: Evaluation of How Evidence-Based Training Programs Align Skill Development and Career Awareness with a Broad Array of Professions Adriana Bankston, Rebekah L. Layton, Audra Van Wart, 2025-08-27 Building the future STEM workforce requires robust federal investments to support the next generation of innovators as well as systemic changes to enable graduate and postdoctoral researchers to transition with confidence into the biomedical workforce This effort involves the transformation of the biomedical research enterprise and training environment at all levels but especially at the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels Innovative initiatives in education and training as well as career and professional development of biomedical trainees are necessary to build upon the robust biomedical workforce of today and create and sustain a diverse innovative and highly trained biomedical workforce of

tomorrow An important aspect of supporting the biomedical workforce relates to changes within training and the research enterprise with opportunities for re imagining what STEM education should look like at different levels including providing agency for junior scientists in the field The future of the field should focus on inclusivity supporting trainees from different backgrounds and with diverse perspectives including but not limited to intersectional identities in race ethnicity gender sexual orientation first generation status and international talent in STEM This requires critical policy changes in order to support the transition of biomedical research professionals into the labor market

Women's Work ,1977 Sociology, Work, and Organisations Brian McDonough,Jane Parry,2024-10-23 This accessible edited collection provides global context for undergraduate and postgraduate students studying the sociology of work and organisations Composed of short example led chapters this book covers a wide range of contemporary topics including the COVID 19 pandemic the digitalisation of work the gig economy and the shifting roles of women and other marginalised groups The book s innovative approach uses case studies as diverse as work life balance in China gender pay inequity in Britain and Germany and the exploitation of workers on the Mexico US border to incorporate perspectives from both the Global North and South and provide students with the tools to analyse new developments in the rapidly changing world of work The book is particularly concerned with inequalities and marginalisation in the workplace discussing discrimination against women ethnic minorities migrants and older workers The book also explores how increasing digitalisation the rise of the gig economy and the COVID 19 pandemic have impacted working practices and how this relates to precarious employment Other chapters are dedicated to issues of workplace organisation including female leadership work life balance and well being The book goes on to explore how climate change and policies such as Universal Basic Income may shape the future of work in the near future Each chapter also includes useful pedagogical resources including practice exam questions key concepts and definitions and further readings Therefore the book will be therefore essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students studying the sociology of work business management and organisation
