Special Needs David R. Mitchell, Roy Irwin Brown, 1991 This is the fourth volume in the Rehabilitation Education Series It is the first volume to be co edited and follows a volume on quality of life The first few years of a child's life sets the pattern for many issues associated with quality of life Although intervention may at later stages enhance quality of life it is in these first years that the attitudes and systems of society can have long lasting effects The early years are increasingly seen as the province of the educator and in children with disabilities special education They are already recognized as the province of the health professional Here we attempt to take a different line re enforcing the idea that child and family are the interacting system we serve The needs are often multidisciplinary but we need to recognize context as the critical marker Thus assessment needs to be linked to programmes and therefore programmes themselves have to be evaluated and environmental issues underlined In particular the contribution from those with sociological interests are noted Intervention whether it be psychological or educational is frequently and ideally placed in the hands of parents or the nearest caregiver The professional becomes the processor ever mindful of the context in which needs and goals are experienced These issues are basic to the issues of quality of life D R M R I B Catalogue of the Tavistock Joint Library, London, England Tavistock Institute of Human Relations, 1975 The American Journal of Psychology Granville Stanley Hall, Edward Bradford Titchener, Karl M.
