Singla, Gokhan Zengin, 2024-11-11 The importance of natural products and their metabolites in the treatment of pain and other diseases has been recognized by contemporary science and a range of medications currently used in the clinic were indeed initially developed from natural products including medicinal plants Historically the mark of obtaining bioactive compounds with analgesic potential occurred in the 19th century when the first analgesic drugs obtained from medicinal plants were marketed These included especially the opioids such as morphine extracted from papaver Papaver somniferum and acetylsalicylic acid which was synthesized from salicylic acid extracted from willow bark Salix spp After almost two centuries new analgesic compounds have been extracted from natural products for example capsaicin obtained from pepper Capsicum annuum the peptide ziconotide extracted from the marine mollusc Conus magus and cannabinoid compounds extracted from Cannabis sativa tetrahydrocannabinol cannabidiol and others In addition to the diversity of their chemical constituents natural products have a range of pharmacological targets that make them potent analgesic compounds In fact a large part of these compounds is able to promote the modulation of several neurotransmission systems such as opioid cannabinoid and purinergic as well as voltage sensitive ion channels including transient receptor potential TRP channels and acid sensing ion channels ASICs Besides these compounds are normally important modulators of inflammatory mediators release and redox imbalance Even in case of rheumatoid arthritis neuropathy focus on the redox imbalance as well as hyaluronidase inhibition are also the important factors which are being considered by the researchers worldwide In this context natural products like nuciferonic acid plays a very important role in controlling hyaluronidase enzyme
